GANG WAYLAYS EAST INDIAN; VICTIM IS LEFT AMONG BUSHES

Nama, of 619 Dupplin Road, Tells Police "Six Devils" Beset Him Near Leigh Mills—Injured Man Fights for Life as Detectives Make Search for Assailants

NAMA, an East Indian, of 619 Dupplin Road, last night, waged a battle for life in the Jubilee Hospital, while police searched the city for a gang of six East Indians, believed to be Sikhs, who attacked their countryman either with a hammer or an ax, and inflicted possible fatal injuries. The injured man was covered from head to foot with cuts, bruises and abrasions. His most serious injury, however, is a fracture of the skull some two inches in length.

Through the medium of an interpreter, it was learned from Nama that he had gone to a scow near the old Leigh Mills on Pleasant Street to see a friend, who lived in a house built on the scow.

ATTACKED ON PATH

As he was threading his way through some underbrush, which skirts a path leading to the waterfront, Nama was set upon by "Seta Bayas," six devils, to use Nama's colloquial expression.

"Why did they attack you?" Nama was asked.

"I tell you that later," he replied.

Nama unquestionably was telling his story with considerable difficulty. His body was wracked with pain from the many wounds that were inflicted, and at times his story as punctuated with groans, and sometimes violent language.

LAY UNCONSCIOUS

Nama, according to his story, had gone to visit his friend about 8 o'clock and was left by his assailants in the bush as dead. He regained consciousness, however, shortly before 10 o'clock, and made his way to a store operated by Mrs. S. R. Charters, on the corner of Turner and Bay Streets, near the Point Ellice Bridge.

As he ran into the store, he gave Mrs. Charters a shock, his condition being of a terrifying character. However, he managed to explain sufficiently, in broken English, that he wanted the police, and the call was promptly turned in.

LWANCHOW IS ATTACK CENTRE

Japanese and Manchukuan Troops Combine for Assault on Chinese City

TIENTSIN, April 19 (AP).—Japanese and Manchukuan troops were reported today to have crossed the Lwan River near Lwanchow and to have launched an attack on the town.

Japanese planes were said to be bombing the region south of the river, while artillery was shelling the town from the north bank of the Lwan.

WITHIN EIGHTY MILES

Lwanchow is on the route toward Tangshaw, eighty miles northeast of here, where retreating Chinese troops established a base yesterday south of the river.

Previous reports said the invading Japanese and Manchukuans, who have begun a drive in the area south of the Great Wall and east of the Lwan River, had attempted to cross the stream near Lwanchow, but had been driven back by Chinese machine guns.

SHANHAIKWAN, China, April 18 (AP).—Native Manchukuan troops were reported today to have entered Changli, seat of an American Methodist Episcopal mission.

Japanese communiques from the new war zone south of here said an infantry bridge, under Major-General Kaoru Nakamura, was en route to Changli to join the command of General Ting Chiang.

Changli is 125 miles northeast of Tientsin.

RENEWED ACTIVITY

PEIPING, April 19 (AP).—A Chinese military communique today said Japanese forces had renewed activity in the region of the Kupeikow Pass through the Great Wall.

Two hundred shells had been fired into Chinese positions south of the Wall, the communique said, but the Japanese had not attempted to advance beyond the Wall.

Murder Is Suspected By Police

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask., April 18.—Suspecting murder, Royal Canadian Mounted Police of this city are investigating the discovery of a man's charred body in a straw-stack at Whitkow, forty miles from here. It is expected that identity will be established shortly. The body was found Sunday night.

At the same time the police are investigating destruction of a teacherage in the district Monday night. Affairs of the school district in which the teacherage was situated have been under investigation by the Provincial Department of Education.

OFFERS TWO AMENDMENTS

Would Forbid Railway Amalgamation and Establish C.N.R. Trustees' Board

OTTAWA, April 18 (CP).—A flood of amendments greeted the Government railway bill today when the House of Commons devoted a full sitting to its consideration. Among other things, it would establish a board of three trustees to manage the Canadian National Railways.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, gave notice of two amendments. The first would forbid amalgamation of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways and would prohibit unified management. The second would stipulate that neither railway could abandon a branch line without the consent of the board of railway commissioners.

OTHER PROPOSALS

From the Liberal side of the House came several proposed changes. One, that was defeated, would have stipulated that one of the trustees would represent organized labor. Another, also defeated, would have added the names of the proposed trustees to the bill, giving Parliament rather than the Cabinet the right to appoint them. Still another, which was allowed to stand and possibly may be embodied in the bill, would make all three trustees full-time appointments. A fourth proposal, that Parliament and not the railway, should pay salaries to the trustees, thus reserving control over them, was undecided.

MANY SIDE ISSUES

There were many side issues in the long day's debate. Labor members again introduced the subject of compensation for railwaymen thrown out of work through cooperative measures by the companies. This drew from Premier R. B. Bennett the charge a "deliberate effort has been made to prevent the passage of this bill" and for the rest of the day the subject was dropped.

GERMANY PLANS TO HONOR CHIEF

Nation Prepares For Giant Celebration of Hitler's Birthday Tomorrow

BERLIN, April 18 (AP).—Hardly over the Easter holidays, the German nation swung feverishly into line today to celebrate Chancellor Hitler's birthday, Thursday, in a style reminiscent of bygone royalist times.

Preliminary exercises honoring the Chancellor and the "third kingdom" began late tonight.

Herr Hitler and Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Nazi Minister of Propaganda, will return tomorrow from a vacation trip to Munich.

Today thousands of Hitler's Nazi followers were collecting money from street crowds for a fund which will be distributed among the needy on Thursday.

TO PUT UP FLAGS

City governments have been ordered to put up flags and make arrangements for holding special exercises.

Meanwhile, courts resumed sessions today. Five persons were sentenced for circulating atrocity stories. Three received nine months' sentences, and two, convicted of having handbills accusing Nazis of setting the recent Reichstag Building fire, were sentenced to one-year terms.

May Have Located Wreck of Akron

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP).—Naval headquarters here announced late today that naval vessels, grappling near the spot where the Akron plunged into the ocean two weeks ago, had located what appeared to be the main wreckage of the dirigible.

Police Disperse Red Mob in Madrid

COMMUNIST marathons are fast becoming an old Spanish custom, if this picture counts for anything. There was plenty of action when the gendarmes in the land of El Toreador dispersed a Red meeting in Madrid recently. The Communists were engaged in attempting to break up a religious demonstration when the police took a hand in the game and did a little breaking up themselves with the above result.

Ottawa Will Not Violate Trade Pacts With Empire Countries

SEEK STABILITY FOR LONG TERM

(Special to The Colonist)

OTTAWA, April 18.—In the proposed trade negotiations with the United States there are few in the capital who are optimistic that a commercial agreement of a wide scope is possible. At present Canada has negotiated a stable market in Great Britain for many natural products. The United States market for the past seventy-five years has been uncertain and unstable, due to political and economic fluctuations in the republic.

It can be taken as assured that Canada will deal only in specific commodities and there will be no general tariff concessions. Any agreement reached on specific classes must be for not less than ten years, and be placed beyond the reach of Congress to abrogate without violating the honor of the United States.

ASKS FREE ENTRY

It is believed that Canada will propose free entry of certain commodities into the United States.

Band of Dynamiters Lets Loose Roaring Wall of Water

GREENWOOD, Miss., April 18 (AP).—Without the firing of a shot, a band of 100 to 300 levee dynamiters, late today, advanced in boats up the Chute Bridge section of the Tallahatchie flood region, near Swan Lake, overpowered levee guards and dynamited a stretch of levee protecting an estimated 100,000 acres of fertile lands, some already planted in crops.

After the dynamiting, the swollen flood waters roared from within the levees out into thousands of acres of Western Tallahatchie, Northern Leflore and Western Sunflower Counties, sending walls of water up to ten feet high. Levee feuds, like the one that flared today, are as old in Mississippi as they are exciting. They are wars of preservation, the idea being to destroy a section of a levee at a strategic point to relieve pressure across the river or up the river.

Reorganization Of Government Is in Prospect

Plain Declaration of Future Policy Will Be Laid Before Conservatives on Saturday by Premier Tolmie—Curtailed Cabinet and Early Dissolution of Legislature Expected

IMMEDIATE reorganization of the Provincial Government, early dissolution of the Seventeenth Legislature and a complete release of all Conservative Associations to vote as they wish in the next Provincial election is expected to be Premier Tolmie's reply to the executive of the British Columbia Conservative Association, to meet at Vancouver on Saturday.

Premier Tolmie declined flatly and firmly to indicate in advance what his announcement would be, but from events over the week-end it appears certain that a decisive step will be taken by the Premier when he meets party heads on April 22 Those closest to the Premier believe that immediate Cabinet reduction and complete freedom for party affiliations to do as they please will be the chief elements in the move.

CURTAILED CABINET

It is regarded as certain, however, that the Premier will not at this stage announce a Union ministry, the members of which would be verbally shot at by every opposing group, before even the platform of the new ministry was de-

Youth Kills Brother in Desperation

TACOMA, April 18 (AP).—Goaded by what he described as repeated beatings, Robert Templeman, fifteen, Buckley High School sophomore, today shot and killed his brother, Oliver, twenty, at the Templeman farm home three miles from Buckley.

The lad told Sheriff Fremont Campbell, Jr., Oliver had beaten him just prior to the shooting, with a whip made of electric wire cords, and had chased him into the house, where Robert obtained his father's .38 calibre revolver and fired, sending a bullet through his brother's heart, and one through his temple.

DOG SAVES LIVES; HOUSE DESTROYED

Home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harris in Saanich Gutted Early Yesterday Morning

A dwelling at 3330 Glasgow Street, Saanich, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harris and their two daughters just escaped death, according to city police.

A neighbor's dog was responsible for giving the alarm. His barking awoke his master, who, on seeing the reflection of the fire in his bedroom, hastened outside to awaken the Harris family. The flames were creeping to the upper room when the family was aroused.

How the fire started and whether the house was covered by insurance is not known. Mr. Harris is the owner. The Saanich fire department responded to the alarm at 4:05 a.m.

MAN FATALLY BURNED TRYING TO SAVE CAT

FORT WILLIAM, April 18 (CP).—Elmder Dudley, twenty-one, died in hospital, here today, from burns received when he climbed the guy wire of a high tension power pole to rescue a cat. He came in contact with wires carrying 13,000 volts and was badly burned on one arm and internally. The cat was killed.

ESCAPES DEATH MIRACULOUSLY

Courtenay Electrician Overtaken by Runaway Tank Car on Railway Track

COURTENAY, April 18.—With the rear of his car overridden and crushed by a forty-ton railway tank car, Bert Dennis, the popular city electrician and public utilities employee, had a miraculous escape from death on Sunday.

Returning from an inspection of the city's water intake, on Brown's River, his light truck, driven on the right-of-way planked for cars, was overtaken by the onrushing, giant tank car, which had in some mysterious way become released from the first switch, about a mile and a half away, in the hills above. Mercifully, Mr. Dennis seems to have been rendered unconscious by a blow on the head when the impact occurred, for the automobile, pinned beneath the tank car, was pushed across the high trestle bridge for a quarter of a mile, the canopy top, body and frame crushed down to the track. The tank jumped the rails after crossing the bridge.

With his head bleeding, Mr. Dennis regained consciousness and hastened to Bevan to telephone for aid. He was taken to hospital, where his condition is reported to be not serious.

Many Injured in Attack on Jews

CZERNOWITZ, Rumania, April 18 (AP).—One hundred persons, most of them Jews, were injured today when 250 Fascists stormed the business district here today, smashed shop windows and attacked Jewish pedestrians. Twenty persons were arrested, among them several Ukrainians.

Four of the victims, whose recovery was considered doubtful, include two Government employees, one Jewish tailor, and one Jewess. All suffered bullet or knift wounds.

PRISON SENTENCES PASSED ON TWO BRITISH ENGINEERS AND THREE EXPELLED FROM RUSSIA

L. C. Thornton Condemned to Serve the Longer Term in Soviet Jail; W. H. MacDonald, Reported to Have Again Admitted Guilt, the Shorter — Gregory Only Briton Acquitted

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., April 19 (CP and AP). — Two British engineers of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Company and ten Russians, some of them employed by the same firm, early today were given prison sentences at the end of their six-day trial on charges of sabotage, espionage and bribery in connection with the Soviet electrification programme. Three Britons were ordered expelled from the country. One Briton and one Russian were acquitted.

L. C. Thornton, chief erecting engineer of the company, was sentenced to three years' imprisonment, and W. H. Macdonald, twenty-two-year-old crippled member of the British staff, was given two years. The prosecution maintained Thornton had confessed in a pre-trial examination. Macdonald pleaded guilty and was sentenced despite an eloquent plea for clemency by his Russian counsel, A. A. Smirnov.

THREE TO BE DEPORTED

Big, middle-aged Allan Monkhouse, Moscow director of Metropolitan-Vickers; John Cushny and Charles Jordwell, engineers, were ordered deported within three days. They will not be allowed to return to Russia within five years.

Red-headed A. W. Gregory, Welsh engineer with the company, was acquitted at the suggestion of Prosecutor Andrey Vishinsky, who said there was not sufficient evidence to convict him on any of the three charges. Gregory caused a laugh in the court today when he was asked if he had anything to say on his own behalf. He rose to his feet and replied he had nothing to say since the prosecutor had dismissed charges against him.

Heaviest of the sentences imposed on Russian prisoners went to Vassili Gusev, described by Vishinsky as an inveterate saboteur; thirty-five-year-

Envisions Inception of Accord of All Peoples of Earth

JERUSALEM, April 18 (CP). —Speaking at the dedication ceremony here of the Young Men's Christian Association Building, "Given by a large-hearted friend as a memorial and pious offering," Lord Allenby said: "Let us confidently believe we are witnessing the inception of an accord—liberal and without reserve—destined to extend, unceasingly and illimitably, its power; until it brings together in perpetual amity, all the peoples on earth."

SWEEP BILL IS DEFEATED

Measure to Legalize Lotteries for Hospitals Given Hoist in House

OTTAWA, April 18 (CP).—Canadians must continue to buy their sweepstakes tickets, if at all, in dark alley fashion, the House of Commons tonight defeating a bill to legalize lotteries conducted for the benefit of hospitals. The six months' hoist—a time-honored parliamentary way of killing a measure—was given the bill, 86 to 15, the vote cutting across party lines.

While at least one member drew a sweepstakes ticket from his pocketbook, nine Conservatives, five Liberals and one Laborite supported the bill. Premier R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservatives; Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberals, and Robert Gardiner, leader of the Third-Party group, united in opposing the measure.

CAUSE OF DEFEAT

The bill passed the Senate after a rough passage, but found few supporters in the elected chamber. The common ground for opposition was that it fostered gambling and would not assist hospitals.

J. L. Brown (Lib., Lisgar), spoke feelingly against the measure. The fact the sponsor of the bill had suggested that but for the possible publicity a great many members would indulge in this form of gambling, was proof that there was a recognized strong feeling against sweepstakes.

SHOULD BE LEGALIZED

A. L. Beaubien (Lib., Provencher), had said that gambling existed, therefore it should be legalized. Murder and lying also existed, said Hon. W. R. Motherwell (Lib., Melville), but that was no reason for legalizing them. Some years ago he had himself supported a mild form of gambling in connection with agricultural exhibitions. He was then in good company, for representatives of the church also approved that. Now, however, he wished "to make public recantation."

Hon. Ian Mackenzie (Lib., Vancouver Centre), declared that although in his own constituency a vote of five or six to one had been given in favor of a similar bill, he himself would vote against it.

CALGARY, April 18 (CP).—Two persons were dead here tonight from poisoning caused, according to Dr. G. R. Johnson, from drinking rubbing alcohol as a beverage.

To Resume Operations In Old Mine

PORT ALBERNI, April 18.—W. W. Gibson, representing San Francisco interests, has arrived in the city, and, after picking up a crew of men, departed for Kennedy Lake, where he intends to resume operations on the gold-bearing quartz at the Leora Mine. In 1914 and 1915 a stamp mill was erected on the property for the purpose of recovering the free milling gold, but it was later demolished by snow, according to the 1916 mining reports.

The property was at one time owned by D. W. Hanbury and associates, of Victoria. Several other gold-bearing properties in the Kennedy Lake area were worked years ago, including the Rose Marie group, and considerable interest is now being taken in the district. Although not far from the Alberni Mining Division, it is included in the Clayoquot Mining District.

DRUG STORE LOOTED

Government Moves To Resurvey Loans In Irrigated Areas

Definite Promise of Relief, Conditional on Actual Facts in Each Case, Contained in Memorandum Issued to B.C. Irrigation Districts by Premier

DEFINITE promise of relief for irrigation districts was given by the Government yesterday, conditional to actual disclosure of their ability to pay, and all circumstances attending each individual case. Affecting Kamloops, Salmon Arm, Nelson, Vernon, Kelowna, Grand Forks and Enderby chiefly, the following reply was made by the Premier to representations laid before the Government by a committee of Conservative members of the Legislature during the recent session:

The reply was in the form of a memorandum, as follows:

EACH ON MERITS

"1—The case of each district will be considered by itself, and on its own merits.

"2—In regard to each district, and in the light of present knowledge and experience as to the value of crops that may be raised and the cost of raising the same, a new estimate must be made of the proportion of the capital outlay that the district could have been reasonably expected to pay off, with interest on the same,

"3—The account of each district must be reached as from the dates of the original borrowings and the payments on account of principal and interest be credited against the proportion of original outlay that may be decided upon, as per paragraph (2) hereof.

"4—The balance of the account of each district should be wiped off.

"Representatives of each irrigation district will be consulted immediately, and in order to avoid delay, the Government recommends that each district appoint its representatives, and that they prepare the necessary data," the memorandum ended.

CALLS ON BANK HEADS TO HELP

U.S. Administration Would Stimulate Exchange of Currency

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP).—The Administration tonight called in the Federal Reserve Bank governors to stimulate exchange of currency, and reached out for command of the growing campaign for inflation.

Calling off temporarily the drive on Capitol Hill for money expansion, the President determined to make existing credit facilities more effective as he began discussion of other "reflation" proposals.

TO FREE IDLE MONEY

In announcing the conference here tomorrow of the governors of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks, Secretary Woodin made it clear he was looking primarily for means of putting into operation the idle currency now available to the banks and the freeing of four or five billion dollars locked up in closed institutions.

There is a conviction at the Treasury that the demand for capital is increasing and commodity prices improving, but that something must be done to pump the millions of available new currency through the banks to industry.

STAND ON INFLATION

The door was not slammed at the White House to inflationary steps, but it was emphasized there that no specific Administration measure has been drafted. High Administration leaders also hinted quite strongly there is no thought of forthright currency inflation.

As for the reflated silver problem, it is the intention of President Roosevelt to work this out through an international treaty or treaties in the forthcoming world economic discussions. He feels world action is necessary on the subject of bimetallism.

Dormitory Wrecked by Night Fire

OLEAN, N.Y., April 18 (AP).—Fire at St. Bonaventure College tonight wrecked Lynch Hall, boys' dormitory and oldest building on the grounds. The loss is estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000. The fire started in the clock tower of the three-story brick building. Students said painters were at work in that part of the building earlier in the day.

St. Bonaventure experienced a loss of about $1,000,000 on May 5, 1930, when flames swept the church and two buildings, dormitories of students and seminarians.

DIRECTORS ARE NAMED

Nine Elected by Chamber of Commerce Membership for Two-Year Terms

Herbert Anscomb, J. O. Cameron, William A. Luney, Fred M. McGregor, E. W. McMullen, B. C. Nicholas, H. J. Pendray, William T. Straith and A. J. Watson have been chosen by the membership to serve two-years terms as directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, W. B. Wilson, chairman of the elections committee, announced last night.

With the election of these nine members, the board of directors for the year is constituted. With these newly elected directors will be associated on the board for the coming year nine directors who have still one year longer to serve. These are R. H. B. Ker, who has been president throughout the year, and G. H. Stevens, who has been vice-president, L. Batchelor, Alderman P. R. Brown, James H. Fletcher, P. B. Fowler, Harold Husband, Captain George McGregor and J. W. Spencer.

TO NAME OFFICERS

It has been decided to hold a directors' meeting on Monday, May 1, when the new board will be present and the election of the president and vice-president for the coming year will be made.

This will be followed on Friday, May 5, by the annual meeting of the membership, when the formal installation of the new officers will take place. At this latter meeting, the membership will be addressed by Major Harold Brown, of Vancouver, past president of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Prison Sentences Passed On Two British Engineers and Three Expelled From Russia

old A. T. Lobano and L. A. Suchoruchkin, thirty-nine, manager of the Moscow power station. They got ten years each.

N. G. Eorin, fifty-nine; M. L. Kotlyarevsky, fifty-eight, and V. A. Sokoloff, thirty-three, the latter an official of a Russian industrial syndicate, were sentenced to eight years each. M. D. Krashenninikoff, thirty-five-year-old chief engineer of the Moscow electrical plant, got five years. P. E. Olyenik, fifty-two, to two years, and bobbed-haired Anna Sergeyevna Kutuzova, secretary to Monkhouse, to one and a half years. Y. I. Siebert, thirty-six, was acquitted.

VERDICT OF THREE

The trial came to an end at 12:55 this morning, when the three judges came into the court with their verdict, at the end of nine hours, fifteen minutes of deliberation.

The presiding judge, Vassili Ulrich, kept the entire crowd in the courtroom standing while he summarized the charges against the prisoners. For twenty-five minutes he read from a prepared manuscript and finally announced the verdict and the sentences. A tense silence gripped the overcrowded courtroom which had been filled to overflowing by privileged Russians.

SHOWED NO EMOTION

The prisoners, including the Britons, stood stolidly as Judge Ulrich read from his paper. When the court pronounced the sentences, taking up each defendant by name separately, the defendants showed no emotion, as if the punishment assessed them were not surprising. The Russians, who received the heaviest sentences, also suffered confiscation of their property.

The last procedure in the courtroom before sentencing was a series of final statements from each of the defendants. Perhaps the most dramatic of these came from Monkhouse, who told the court that a man of his profession could no more wreck his engineering accomplishments than he could kill his own children.

"I never yet knew a parent who would put a dagger in the heart of his child."

Each of the Russian defendants threw himself abjectly on the mercy of the court, although the only woman among them, Anna Kutuzova, spiritedly remarked: "I am accused of selling myself for face powder and perfume, but I have used them when employed in Soviet offices and will continue to use them in the future."

REPEATS GUILTY PLEA

Macdonald, who pleaded guilty at the opening of the trial, repeated that plea when his opportunity came to make a statement. Macdonald, who is lame, limped to the microphone in front of the judges' stand. His ascetic face was unusually pale. Standing with his hands in his trouser pockets, he looked Judge Ulrich squarely in the eye, and, in Russian, declared:

"I confessed and I have nothing to add."

John Cushny, who spoke in English, asserted his counsel had "torn to shreds the flimsy evidence the prosecutor presented against me. I have said all through that I am not guilty and whatever the verdict, I shall leave this court an honest man as I came into it."

The next Briton heard by the court, Charles Nordwall, asserted that he took intefest only in his work and always tried to do his best.

FRIEND OF THE SOVIET

"My private life is lived solely in connection with my work and my own family," Nordwall continued. "After the evidence against me here, and after the fairness I received from the Ogpu (secret police) after I was arrested, I have stated I have always been a friend of the Soviet Union, and the court, I think, has documentary evidence to this effect.

"I fell sure, in view of the evidence, the judge can pass only one verdict—not guilty. At this moment I am still a friend of the Soviet Union and not afraid to say so before all the press."

L. C. Thornton, the next Briton, said briefly that from the beginning he had pleaded not guilty, and he still made the same plea.

The released Englishmen revealed they had been asked to sign an agreement immediately upon quitting the courtroom, obligating themselves to leave the country within three days.

WITH NO DELAY

"And we are getting out on tomorrow night's train for Berlin," they added in chorus. Then one of them proposed a toast "to our colleagues in prison, who have been unjustly convicted," in which all of them joined.

Monkhouse, Cushny, Nordwall and Gregory were released immediately the trial was ended, under bail, which will remain in effect until they conform to the sentences.

It was revealed after the courtroom had cleared that Thornton had been taken into custody before leaving the prisoners' dock, and had been removed to prison without a chance to speak to his fellow defendants. MacDonald, who had been in custody all during the trial, shared the same fate, together with all the Russian defendants, except Ziebert, who left the courtroom a free man.

None of the Britons would comment on the verdict.

RELIEF IN LONDON

LONDON, April 19 (AP).—Immense relief was expressed early today in political quarters, clubs and elsewhere when the verdict in the trial of six Britons in Moscow was learned, and the worst fears were unrealized. Sympathy for L. C. Thornton and William L. MacDonald, the only two British subjects sentenced to prison terms, was expressed, however.

Meanwhile it was officially announced the Privy Council has been summoned this morning for a meeting to authorize a proclamation under a recent act empowering the British Government to prohibit Russian imports. The hope was voiced here the sentences against the Britons may be commuted. Some precedents for such actions were said to exist.

MIDNIGHT SPECIALS

Anxiety over the outcome of the trial had been tense, and during the evening newspaper offices were besieged with telephone calls for news. Although it was midnight before the result was known, afternoon newspapers issued special editions, which were eagerly bought by late home-goers.

Sir John Simon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and many officials awaited the verdict in the Foreign Office, but none would comment when it was received. Sir John left for home soon after receiving the news.

KING WILL PRESIDE

The meeting of the Privy Council will be held in Windsor Castle, where the King now is residing. It was implied His Majesty himself would preside.

Stanley Baldwin, as acting head of the Government in the absence of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, and Sir John Simon doubtless will go to the castle for the meeting, accompanied by other ministers. The matter was exhaustively discussed at a Cabinet meeting this afternoon.

Mrs. John Cushney, whose husband was ordered expelled from the Soviet Union, declared, "I am more relieved than I can say," when informed of the verdict. She added: "I have lived in Russia and know the prison to which my husband would have been sent, for I have visited it. That is why I say I am relieved." The mother of MacDonald declined to make a statement.

A BITTER ENDING

Mrs. Allan Monkhouse, wife of the Briton who had been the chief of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Company in Moscow, said:

"I am overwhelmned with delight that my husband will not suffer imprisonment; nevertheless expulsion is for him and me, too, a very bitter end to eight years of indefatigable work for the Soviet. He had many friends in Russia; he worked ceaselessly for them and the Soviet Union, and the idea that he could be guilty of such charges is monstrous."

Expressing deep sympathy for Thornton and MacDonald, she declared: "My one hope is that the Soviet authorities relent, and suspend the sentences, so that they can leave Russia with those expelled."

WILL LODGE APPEAL

MOSCOW, April 19 (CP).—An appeal will be lodged against prison sentences imposed by a Soviet court on L. C. Thornton, chief construction engineer of Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Company, and W. H. MacDonald, his crippled fellow-worker, it was learned here today.

COMPLETE CONFIDENCE

LONDON, April 19 (AP).—Officials of the Metropolitan-Vickers Company, six of whose employees were tried in Moscow on charges of espionage, bribery and sabotage against the Soviet Union, today issued a statement saying the company "reaffirms its complete confidence" in them.

DOG SAVES FAMILY

CUDWORTH, Sask., April 18.—Paralyzed with fear and crippled with rheumatism, Michael Kindrachuck was carried from his burning home at 2 o'clock here this morning by his son, while his wife and daughter also made their escape. The son was aroused by the dog. The house was razed.

FORGOT HOW TO BREATHE

CHICAGO, April 18 (AP).—Mrs. Caroline La Plant, thirty-seven, has learned her breathing lessons so well, physicians say she is well on the road to a complete recovery. Stricken on March 31 with a brain inflamation, she forgot how to breathe naturally and was placed in an artificial breathing machine.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

FREE ENTRY OF CANADIAN LUMBER AND FISH WILL BE REQUESTED FROM U.S.

These will be confined to probably a half dozen commodity classes, including fish, lumber, lath and shingles, livestock, poultry and potatoes. Nothing but free entry will be accepted, and also the containers for fish, potatoes and poultry will also be exempt from duty.

In return, Canadian tariff experts have arranged that without violating the Imperial Economic Conference agreement, or any existing treaties, Canada can offer the United States free entry for certain classes of structural and alloy steels. There also can be offered free entry for a large list of chemicals and free entry for certain classes of mining, lumbering and road-making machinery. Canada's fruit tariffs will not be changed. The Canadian fruit grower will retain his protection, and the preferences given the British West Indies on citrus fruits and bananas will be maintained.

Under these proposals the scope of the treaty, if consummated, will be restricted, but stability in markets retained in Britain and secured in the United States will be assured. The Imperial trade agreements and West Indies treaty will not be infringed.

OFFERS TWO AMENDMENTS

Trustees for the railway will not be political appointments, the Prime Minister assured the House. He defined a political appointment as "a man who has been of very great assistance to a political party, but who has no qualifications other than that."

The serious plight of Canadian railways entered the debate perfunctorily. Dr. Manion announcing the Canadian National in February did not meet its operating expenses. Denying the charge by Labor members the bill would add 20,000 railwaymen to the army of the unemployed, the railway minister said with a revival of business more jobs would be created. Some people, including some railwaymen, had overlooked, to a certain extent, the financial condition, not only of the railways, but of the country. Canada could not continue paying out vast sums to the national railway and preserve its financial integrity.

FAVORS AMALGAMATION

Hon. William Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, reiterated his plea for amalgamation of the railways under public ownership. At the same time he opposed compensation for railwaymen who lost their jobs. Why not, he asked, pay similar compensation to unemployed furniture workers in Kitchener or any other class. Employment on railways was an incidental consideration—their main purpose was to provide transportation service at the lowest possible cost.

At the end of the long day several clauses had been passed by the House in committee stage, many of them being definitions of terms that have been contentions throughout the debate.

GANG WAYLAYS EAST INDIAN; VICTIM IS LEFT AMONG BUSHES

Constable James Strong attended and took the man to the Jubilee Hospital, where Dr. J. W. Lennox and Dr. Thomas McPherson attended to the East Indian's injuries.

OBTAIN DESCRIPTION

Detectives William Stark and Charles Cremer secured an interpreter and learned from Nama a description of some of his assailants, and are now working on the case.

Nama at no time would give a motive for the attack and it was with difficulty that police obtained from him a description of some of the men.

The injured man had been living with a friend, Butta Singh, at 619 Dupplin Road. He said that he had been unable to see his friend on the scow, and does not know whether he was a witness of the attack.

REORGANIZATION OF GOVERNMENT IS IN PROSPECT

clared. It is expected, instead, that the Premier will reduce his existing Cabinet to two-thirds of its present proportions, and carry on as a Conservative ministry until completed plans for a Union executive have been prepared.

Of necessity, the Union Cabinet would have to be announced in time for an election campaign terminating some time in September. Months before that, the curtailed Cabinet would be dissolved and the new Union ministry launched, with its policies and platform to be clearly set before the people at the election.

ANNOUNCEMENT PENDING

Premier Tolmie declined yesterday to discuss his plans in any shape. All he would say for publication was that he would attend the meeting of the British Columbia Conservative Association executive at Vancouver on Saturday. It was to be inferred that his first announcement will be made there.

It is known, however, that over the week-end he conferred with several of his ministers, and in a further meeting yesterday is believed to have discussed certain elements of the situation with the Cabinet.

MERGER EXPECTED

There is ground to believe that the reduction in the Cabinet will be brought about by the elimination of specific portfolios, through combination of departments. It is expected that the Departments of Mines and Agriculture, now operating as separate entities, will be merged with larger departments. The Department of Education also may be thrown in with that of the Provincial Secretary for administrative purposes.

Mines and Agriculture may or may not become part of the present Department of Lands, as a new Department of Natural Resources, though such a course was actually suggested to the Government in the Kidd Committee's report recently. Fisheries, Railways and Labor, already secondary portfolios, may be further merged with existing departments.

The changes would affect ministers, rather than staffs under them; pointing to a Cabinet of seven or eight all told, in place of eleven ministers, as at present, including nine with portfolios.

PERSONNEL IN DOUBT

The personnel of the reorganized Conservative Cabinet remains a well-guarded secret. No two versions current yesterday agreed in anything save the prime factors. It rests with the Premier to say who will be in his reorganized ministry, and he has not yet disclosed his hand.

It is an open secret that Hon. William Atkinson is retiring at his own request. It is also known that Hon. N. S. Lougheed and at least two other ministers have repeatedly offered to step down. No resignations have yet been asked, and may not be until the ultimate moment of reorganization, as was done before when Mr. Lougheed succeeded Mr. Burden in the Ministry of Lands.

DEFINITE STEP

Beyond all conjecture yesterday, however, was the fact that a definite and decisive step will be taken by the Premier before his party counsellors on Saturday, though the precise form this will take remains to be seen. The Premier and most of the Cabinet are expected to go to Vancouver on Saturday to attend the meeting.

That the step will be an advance by the Premier, acting fully under his own rights and prerogatives as leader of the Government, and not in any sense a retreat, is clear and beyond all doubt.

Operation on Child Must Be Allowed

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP).—Without a dissenting vote, the appellate division of the Supreme Court decided today that parents have no right to endanger a child's life by forbidding an operation. The ruling came in the first case of its kind ever presented to the court—that of two-year-old-Helen Vasco, daughter of an immigrant laborer.

The pretty curly-haired youngster, specialists say, is doomed to certain death unless a malignant tumor is removed from her left eye.

Hold-Up Man Too Lazy to Move On

CHICAGO, April 18 (AP).—"Chicago's laziest hold-up man" was the way police described Marion Harrison, nineteen, negro, arrested today at an elevated station platform. Police said he robbed three men as they got off alone at the deserted station. The first man reported the robbery and police went to the station. They found Harrison in the midst of the third robbery.

"Why didn't you leave after the first hold-up?" asked a policeman.

"My feet hurt—and I was just sleepy," said Harrison.

FILIPINO MURDERER SENTENCED TO LIFE

SEATTLE, April 18 (AP).—Marcelino Julian, Filipino, who ran amock last Thanksgiving Day and killed six persons, today was sentenced to life imprisonment by Superior Judge Malcolm Douglas, who denied defence movement for a new trial. Julian last week was convicted of first degree murder by a jury which recommended life imprisonment.

CANNOT FIND TRACE OF MISSING TEACHER BELIEVED KIDNAPPED

VANCOUVER, April 18 (CP). — Whereabouts of Stewart Ashley, nineteen-year-old school teacher, who disappeared late Thursday night, and who, according to a note received by his parents, is a prisoner of kidnappers and held for $5,000 ransom, was still shrouded in mystery tonight.

At a late hour police reported they were still without a trace of the missing youth, nor had they any clue as to his abductors, although many reports from all sections of the city had been run down.

VALUABLE PAINTINGS STOLEN AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, April 18 (CP). — Sixteen paintings, valued at $20,000, were slashed from their frames at the Spring art exhibition at the Montreal Art Gallery during the night and carried away by unknown thieves.

The thieves entered through a broken window during the night without the knowledge of a watchman living on the premises.

DIED FROM BURNS

SEATTLE, April 18 (AP).—Mrs. Alice Kramer, twenty-three, of Auburn, died at hospital here tonight from burns she received when her clothing caught fire from a stove in her home on March 19. Hope had been held out for her recovery.

REDUCING U.S. ARMY

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP).—The Roosevelt economy campaign is heading for a reduction of from 14,000 to 18,000 in the strength of the United States army. Orders from President Roosevelt are to cut $144,000,000 from the War Department for next year.

TO GIVE ADDRESS

LUMBER TRADE SEES ACTION

British Columbia Section of Industry Leads in Offshore Exports

For three months now British Columbia has led Pacific lumber shipments in the offshore lumber trade, Hon. N. S. Lougheed said yesterday, in commenting on the resumption of logging in Island woods and the reopening of mills that had long been closed.

The Pacific Lumber Inspection Board returns for February, accepted as standard, showed British Columbia exported 31,338,000 board feet in the offshore trade in that month, compared with 21,000,000 board feet from Puget Sound; 14,000,000 feet from Gray's Harbor, and 22,000,000 feet from the Columbia River.

"For the last three months British Columbia has led by ten to twelve million feet any other area in the Pacific Northwest," Mr. Lougheed stated. "We expect that new orders coming in will be even better," he added.

Changes in world marketing conditions in several directions may benefit the British Columbia lumber industry in the months to come. It is fair to add that for several years all branches of the industry have been operating at a fraction of nominal capacity, with profit a negligible element. Considerable encouragement is being taken from the firm upward trend noticed in recent months.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN IS FOUND MURDERED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18 (AP).—Henry Weil, seventy-four, a retired merchant, was found shot to death in his Mission district home, here, tonight. Stuffed into the coal range in the kitchen, and charred by a hastily-built fire, investigators found the slain man's account books, showing more than $25,000 advanced on mortgages and notes.

Weil's body was found crumpled on the floor of a small basement room in his house, shot through the neck. There was no trace of a weapon.

THIS OCTOGENARIAN HARDLY A WEAKLING

WILLIAMANTIC, Conn., April 18 (AP).—Dwight W. Shurtleff, eighty-year-old six-foot retired police chief, today challenged all comers of his age to dispute his claim to being the strongest octogenarian in the world.

To demonstrate his ability, he lifted a fifty-two-gallon cask of water, weighted with stone and old iron, until it totaled 667 pounds, several inches off the ground.

PIRATES KILL TWO BRITISH

Maritime Customs Vessel in China Disappears After Murderous Attack

HONGKONG, China, April 18 (AP).—Two British officers and one Chinese officer were killed and several sailors were wounded yesterday when the cruiser Read, which recently joined the Chinese maritime customs, was attacked by pirates after being grounded fifteen miles from Macao.

The vessel disappeared and it was believed the pirates had sailed it away.

There have been numerous incidents recently in connection with a sudden spurt in smuggling. M. W. Hallums, a European commanding a Chinese customs cruiser, is awaiting trial on a charge of manslaughter as a result of firing on a junk in Hongkong waters and killing the small daughter of the junk master.

From Macao it was reported that one of the British officers killed by the pirates was named Pearce, and the other, formerly of H.M.S. Hermes, was named Baldwin. Baldwin, it was said, died of his wounds some time after the attack.

ISLAND LEASE BEFORE COURT

Owners of Doukhobor Prison Camp Site Decline Offer of Government

An action to fix the rental fee for Pier Island, the penitentiary home of Doukhobors sentenced for nude parades, has been launched in the Exchequer Court of Canada, it was learned here yesterday.

The application for a declaration from the court was made in the name of the Minister of Justice for the Dominion, with Gordon A. Cameron, Victoria barrister, as counsel. The defendant is cited as C. H. O'Halloran, barrister, of Victoria, and trustee for the owners of the island, Mrs. J. S. Harvey and Robert Harvey.

TERMS OF LEASE

The Minister is asking for a declaration from the court to vest the property in the name of His Majesty and that $420 per year for five years "is sufficient and just compensation." The leasehold would give the right to possession, the right to cut timber and the privilege of removing all buildings at the expiration of the lease.

Following the sentence of the Doukhobors, the Federal Government, acting upon the advice of its representatives, selected Pier Island, in the Gulf of Georgia, as a suitable place for the prison camp of the nudists, and negotiations were entered into by the Government and the owners under the Expropriation Act on the understanding that the amount of yearly rental should be decided by the Exchequer Court.

OFFER NOT ACCEPTED

C. H. O'Halloran, acting for the owners, informed the Government that $420 per year was not acceptable to the owners of the 250 acres, and the matter will now be decided by the Exchequer Court.

Notice of the application to the higher tribunal was given to Mr. O'Halloran yesterday morning and the hearing date will be set after the defendant has filed with the court's registry at Ottawa particulars of the reply to the claims of the Government.

MANY WANT TO COME TO CITY

Inquiries Are Frequent for Information Concerning Opportunities for Settlers Here

In spite of the worldwide falling off of tourist trade in the past few years, interest in Victoria and Vancouver Island still continues to attract attention. The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is this Spring receiving a specially large number of inquiries with regard not only to the tourist resorts, but also to the opportunities for establishing homes in and about the city.

This indicates that the good work done in the past in the dissemination of information about the attractions here is bearing fruit. Inquirers who do not mention settling here permanently want information for stays of from two weeks' duration to two months.

As an evidence of the character of the inquiries and the widespread territory covered by the correspondents, mail received yesterday at the office of the bureau included six seekers after information along the line of settling here permanently and six were from prospective tourists.

The origin of the inquiries were as follows: Meanook, Alta.; Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Cal.; Matador, Sask.; San Diego, Cal.; Rosenbury, Mexico; Windsor, Ont.; Denver, Colo.; Oakland, Cal.; and Independence, Ohio.

BOMB EXPLODED IN SEATTLE APARTMENT

SEATTLE, April 18 (AP).—A bomb exploded here yesterday in a light well on the north side of the Terminal Apartments, 1809 Eighth Avenue, but no one was injured, police reported, although a score of windows were broken and dozens of patrons awakened.

C. B. Barden, an apartment tenant, said he saw a man run from the building a moment after the blast. Police said they knew of no motive for the bombing.

BABY SHOW TO BE ATTRACTION

Awards Will Be Made on April 26 at Home Products Fair at Armory

Major W. C. Angus, chairman of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce in charge of the Home Products Fair, is very well pleased with the way in which the manufacturers of Greater Victoria are rallying to the support of the exhibition, which will open in the Armories on Tuesday next and will continue until the end of next week. He says that the interest manifested is keen and there is every promise of an excellent fair.

Among the attractions this year again will be the baby show, which constituted such a great feature of last year's fair. There were over seventy entries last year and the interest is such now as to indicate that there may be fully this number for the coming fair.

The conditions for entry specify that the entrant must be under two years on April 26, which is the time for the entries to be received. The awards will be made on the afternoon of that day. The children must have been born in Greater Victoria. There is a very attractive list of prizes offered for the contest.

In addition to the home products that will be on exhibition at the fair, the programme committee, under the chairmanship of Major J. B. Clearihue, is working hard to secure a drawing programme for each afternoon and evening of the fair. There will be an excellent list of attractions this year.

KIWANIANS HEAR EASTER MESSAGE

Rev. Bruce Gray Addresses Club-men Here on Significance of Story of the Cross

An Easter-time message was delivered to the Kiwanis Club yesterday by Rev. Bruce Gray, a member of the organization. In dealing with the subject, the speaker said that what they had seen in connection with the Oxford Movement during the past few weeks would not have been possible four years ago.

The story of the Cross of Christ was not today the fanciful dream that it was four years ago. The Cross had become, in these times, something of subtle force in the lives of men under conditions that were characterized by slashed salaries, by friends living by force with relatives and with the upsetting of executives as never before.

CROSS MAKES APPEAL

The Cross had become one of the things of the greatest educational value. In this connection Mr. Gray referred to the presentation of the Cavalcade on the stage. Throughout that presentation there was a recurring display of the Cross. It was ever that when people rose to high things, the Cross made an appeal. He traced this through the history of great reforms from earlier days up to the present time.

The speaker divided his subject into two sections, the first having to do with the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, and the second with the resurrection.

GREATEST INFLUENCE

With respect to the first part, he recalled the short life Jesus had on earth and His crucifixion after a few years of ministry. Yet the Cross which was to have ended all the work of Jesus, had today become the greatest influence in the world. It had become an inspiration for the greatest attainments.

The resurrection had lifted the despair which followed the crucifixion. A new hope was awakened. The message of Easter was, therefore, that Christ had overcome death and had brought a new hope to the world. Take the Christian sentiment ut of Victoria and what would become of the uplifting movements of the day, asked Mr. Gray. The churches of today and the world itself had before them hope and courage and not pessimism.

ADMITS THEFTS FROM EMPLOYER

Frederick Lee Kemp Pleads Guilty in Court—Remanded for Sentence

Frederick Lee Kemp, former employee of McLennan, McFeeley & Prior, in this city and Vancouver, pleaded guilty in the city police court yesterday morning to a charge of stealing the sum of $735.24, the property of his employers, between January 1, 1930, and December 23, 1932.

He was remanded until Thursday morning and in the meantime the police magistrate will consider a plea presented by his counsel, Gordon A. Cameron, for a suspended sentence.

Mr. Cameron, in addressing the court, explained the circumstances under which the money was obtained and also stressed the fact that the accused had considerable mental worry because of the serious illness of his wife. H. H. Shandley, who appeared as counsel for the company, said the company was not opposing suspended sentence.

Carted Off Safe And Left Dummy

SEATTLE, April 18.—Leaving a "dummy" cardboard safe in its place, burglars Sunday night wrecked the interior of the Cascade Petroleum Company here to cart away a 1,500-pound safe, containing $1,384 in cash and $897 in cheques.

The safe was three feet high and two and a half feet square. The robbers, apparently, left the dummy to delay discovery of the safe robbing had anyone looked in and noted its disappearance.

VIEWS OF VICTORIA ARE VERY POPULAR

Golf Illustrated, published in San Francisco, in its April number publishes pictures of tees and fairways of one of the golf courses in this city.

Pictures of Victoria's attractive spots are becoming very popular with the illustrated magazines, and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is being constantly asked to provide views and information relative to some of these attractions.

Toronto Saturday Night is being furnished with photographs of Victoria and the Island by the bureau, and Prof. A. L. C. Atkinson, of the University of Saskatchewan, is being supplied with photographs to be used in a motion picture in connection with a lecture on Victoria.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR HENRY J. ABBOTT

On Tuesday afternoon, in the presence of many friends, the funeral service was conducted for Henry J. Abbott, Rev. A. de B. Owen officiating. Two hymns were sung, "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Following the service, interment was made at Royal Oak Burial Park, the following acting as pallbearers: J. S. Horne, J. P. Parnall, J. J. Fenerty, H. L. Roberts, J. Davis and W. T. Edgecombe.

TACOMA, Wash., April 18 (AP).—There seems to be no end to the lines of business this new 3.2 beer affects. Harry H. Collier, a Democrat, told newspapermen one of his hens laid an egg the shape of a beer bottle. And he submitted the egg as proof.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

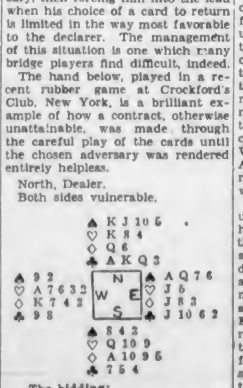

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

PREPARING AN END-PLAY

A forced lead play is a means by which one or more tricks may frequently be gained by a study of the distribution of the hands and the elimination of a suit or suits from the hand of one or the other adversary, then forcing him into the lead when his choice of a card to return is limited in the way most favorable to the declarer. The management of this situation is one which many bridge players find difficult, indeed.

The hand below, played in a recent rubber game at Crockford's Club, New York, is a brilliant example of how a contract, otherwise unattainable, was made through the careful play of the cards until the chosen adversary was rendered entirely helpless.

North, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1NT	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding does not require any particular comment. North and South have just about the minimum of strength to justify the hope of making the contract if everything is just so.

The opening lead by West was the heart three, upon which a small heart was played from dummy. East played the knave and South won with the queen. Many players at this point would stake the success of the hand upon an immediate finesse in the spade suit, counting upon making three or four clubs, two or three spades, two hearts and one diamond. However, this risks too much. The method adopted by the declarer was much more accurate. He now led a small club, winning in the dummy, and then led the queen of diamonds. East, of course, played a small card and West's king was permitted to win. A heart was returned, the king winning in dummy. Another diamond was led and the nine finessed.

At this point it would have been unfortunate for South if West also held the diamond knave, but when the eight fell, the prospect of success appeared much brighter. The ace dropped the knave and another diamond trick was cashed. Now two more rounds of clubs were taken, and when West failed to follow suit, East, who was now marked with nothing but spades, was thrown in the lead with the last club and forced to lead up to the tenace in spades, giving the declarer his contract.

It will be noticed that this is the only method of making the hand, aside from the lead of a small diamond to the queen. Had the declarer depended upon the spade finesse, he must have lost two spades and one diamond in addition to the long hearts in the West hand.

CAPONE GANG IS AIDING SEARCH

Six Men Are Implicated in Kidnapping Son of John Factor

CHICAGO, April 18 (AP).—Possibility that members of the Capone gang, assisting in the search for kidnapped Jerome Factor, had obtained a "lead," was indicated here last night as police apprehended six of them inspecting "rogue's gallery" photographs of three men suspected of membership in a Northern Illinois-Iowa extortion ring.

Police raided a Loop hotel room and found the sextette studying pictures of Ted Patterson, twenty-eight; Archie Brown, twenty-six, and Joseph Varcelona.

HELD ON OTHER CHARGES

Patterson was arrested here last February on a charge of kidnapping. Varcelona today was arraigned at Peoria, Ill., on a similar charge and pleaded not guilty. Brown and Patterson each are at liberty on bond pending trial for bank robbery.

State Policeman Hal Roberts, of Dixon, one of the officers who has been investigating the ring, when informed of the finding of the pictures, said "it appears likely that the Capone gang suspects one of the three of knowing something of the Factor case."

Worn and haggard from his nocturnal tours of underworld haunts, John Factor, fighting extradition to England for fraud, today declared he would comply with any "reasonable" ransom demand for the safe return of his kidnapped son.

The speculator whom England wants for allegedly bilking investors of several million dollars, said he talked on the telephone with his son, a university student, thirty-six hours after he had been seized last Wednesday night.

"They are treating me all right so far," Jerome told his father. "But hurry up with the money, or it will be tough for me."

TELEPHONE CALL

Factor's secretary late this afternoon received a telephone call purporting to come from Jerome's kidnappers.

"This is the kidnappers," the caller said. "Tell Jack to get that money ready. There will be further instructions later."

In a statement issued by Factor to Captain Daniel Gilbert, of the state attorney's police, Factor, once a hair trimmer in a cut-rate barber shop, appealed to his son's captors to get in touch with his friends.

Factor denied that he had received a note which was reported to have raised the original ransom demand of $50,000.

DYNAMITE USED TO HALT FLAMES

Mother and Father Rescue Children From Serious Fire Near Seattle

SEATTLE, April 18 (AP).—One woman was severely burned in a fire which wiped out part of the business section of Vashon, on Vashon Island, on Monday, with a loss estimated at about $200,000. Volunteer firemen used dynamite to stop the spread of the flames.

Mrs. Fanny Middling, who was asleep when the fire broke out, led her nine-year-old son, Bobby, to safety from a burning building, but her night clothing caught fire. Her husband saved their other children.

Firemen fought the flames for four hours before bringing them under control.

ARRESTED WITH BONDS

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP).—A man identified by police as Dandridge H. Bibb and as the scion of a prominent San Francisco family, was under arrest here last night on a variety of felony charges after being caught at Tucson, Ariz., with $63,000 in bonds, claimed to have been stolen eighteen months ago in a New York robbery.

SOVIET JUSTICE

There never was much doubt about the verdict of the Russian court which has been sitting in judgment upon the British engineers, charged with espionage and sabotage; but there was considerable doubt and some trepidation regarding the sentences which would be imposed upon the accused after they had been convicted. Justice as administered in Russia does not appear to have much resemblance to justice as it is usually administered in countries whose people have any claim to be considered civilized.

Still there is some validity in the claim of the Russian Government that no foreign authority shall be permitted to dictate the forms of procedure in the Russian courts or attempt to intimidate by threats the course of justice in those courts. The proceedings at the trials as reported in the press, or as fully reported as the censorship permitted, were merely a travesty on the term justice as we understand it, or as it is generally understood in countries where the scales of justice are supposed to be held upon an even balance. When authentic reports of the proceedings are published (if ever), it will be possible to comment intelligently on the extraordinary charges and on the even more extraordinary contradictions in the evidence upon which the convictions were returned. It is simply impossible to believe that the British technicians engaged in a task assigned to them by the companies which employed them would be guilty of attempting to destroy the machinery they had set up or that they would act as spies on behalf of the British Government, which had designs hostile to the future of the Soviet state. It is difficult to get the truth about Russia or about anything affecting the government of that extraordinary country.

Nevertheless it is possible that the attitude of the British Government to the case and the representations it made to the arbitrary rulers of the country may have had some effect upon the sentences of the court, if not upon the procedure in the court. Soviet justice has not been notably tender in its treatment of native offenders.

Anyhow, all the accused, with the exception of one, have been convicted, and two of them have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment. In due time we shall learn of the reaction of the British Imperial Government to the sensational proceedings in Moscow. Whatever action may be taken, it will not be taken hastily. The facts will be ascertained through some channels of information, and the cases will be calmly and deliberately reviewed before any further representatives are made to the Russian Government.

PAST AND COMING EVENTS

About seventy years ago, a time when press bulletins were not issued so often as at the present time, a bulletin was frequently displayed in front of newspaper offices announcing that all was quiet along the banks of the Potomac. During the American civil war Washington, situated on the banks of the River Potomac, was the centre of most of the news of surpassing interest.

During the coming two weeks there will be the sound of many movements and much buzzing of conversations along the banks of the Potomac. During those two weeks Washington will be the news centre of the world, and the President holding counsels of state in the White House will be the most important political figure in the world.

It is said that the Washington Conference will be merely the vestibule to an establishment which will house a much more important assembly of statesmen, a world-wide conference, called for the purpose of soothing national prejudices and clearing the way for international co-operation in the promotion of international trade.

We are not so optimistic as to anticipate that either the Washington Conference or the greater assembly which is to follow it will be worthy of the conception of the poet who sang about a parliament of man and a federation of the world; but there is not a remote possibility that as a result of the deliberations something may be accomplished which will have a material effect in lifting the international business depression. At any rate we shall look forward with interest to the daily bulletins which again will be issued telling the world what is being done along the banks of the Potomac.

PERSECUTION OF JEWS

The political soil of Germany does not seem to be suited to the healthy growth of the tender plant of democracy. In the countries where democracy has taken deep root and has proved at least measurably successful when applied to the principles of government, the people are tolerant. The people of Great Britain are certainly the most tolerant upon the face of the earth, and the people of the United States never think of persecuting their neighbors because of their religious beliefs, although they are not quite so patient with certain forms of political opinions. The Jewish people, while in the darker ages they may have been regarded with suspicion in Great Britain, in more enlightened times they have been welcomed to citizenship, and many of them have held some of the most important positions in the gift of the Crown, and the judgment of the Sovereign has invariably been sustained by the votes of the people.

The people of Great Britain have found out by experience that even from an economic or utilitarian point of view, intolerance is a mistake and tolerance is generally justified by results. We believe the fact is recorded in history that when the Flemmings were driven by ignorant fanatics out of their own country, they were welcomed in England and established industries there which materially increased the wealth of the nation. If the qualities of the Jewish race be considered from an unbiassed and unprejudiced point of view, the truth will be apparent that whatever their peculiarities in certain respects, including the outstanding peculiarity of an almost aristocratic social exclusiveness, that race has proved its right to be considered an asset to any nation. The Jews can claim no country as a possession, but they are in almost every country of importance, and many countries would be poorer but for their contributions to the arts and sciences.

Why there should be an outbreak of intolerance against the Jews in Germany may be easily understood in Germany, but the reasons for the outburst are not apparent to the people of other countries. Of course there is the fact that most of the leaders in the Russian Bolshevistic revolution and massacre were men of Jewish race and blood, while the Hitler movement seems to be Imperialistic in its aims without indicating the individual selected to wear the crown. The Russian movement has been to the extreme Left, the German movement is rushing to the extreme Right. The Communist element in Germany is something to be reckoned with, and Hitler is reckoning with it by leading a counter movement. The Communists would establish a government by violence. The Nazis have established and will try to maintain a government by force. Hitler has resorted to arbitrary methods, but thus far he has perpetrated no such outrages as those committed under Trotsky, Lenin and Stalin. But the Jewish race as a whole should not be under suspicion, neither should it be subjected to persecution, because of the conduct of some of its individuals. If the Jews be driven out of Germany, the consequences will be upon the heads of the German people.

QUACK CURES FOR DEPRESSION

Parliaments and Congresses may be very useful and maybe necessary institutions, but there is one thing they cannot do. They cannot bring back prosperity by passing resolutions, not even by passing a resolution establishing a parity between the values of gold and silver and issuing some tons of silver currency.

Neither can a Parliament or a Legislature create prosperity by borrowing money and placing it in circulation through the construction of public works which are not necessary for carrying on the business of a country or a province. Mr. Pattullo has given another notice of his intention to borrow, or to insist that the Dominion Government shall borrow, four hundreds of millions of dollars to be expended upon the construction of works which may be either public or private. We believe it is four hundreds of millions of dollars the opposition leader says he will borrow or will insist upon the Federal Government borrowing—but what is a matter of a few hundreds of millions here or there, when the matter is never likely to be put to an issue, as after the election is over Mr. Pattullo will have forgotten all about his pledge, which is a habit of certain politicians. And even if the honorable gentleman be more honest and sincere than some of his predecessors and contemporaries, and tried to borrow or to compel the Dominion Government to borrow the money, the credit of this country is not so good that any individual or institution would be willing to lend the few hundred millions, more or less.

The bugbear of all governments at the present time is the big bite that is taken out of all current revenues by what is known as fixed charges. After the fixed charges are met there is comparatively little money left to meet ordinary expenditures. The interest on four hundred millions of additional borrowed money would be so great that there would be scarcely a cent left to defray the current costs of government, unless of course the opposition leader contemplates further increases of taxation. Mr. Pattullo, whose assurance is unbounded and confidence in himself unlimited, may contemplate with equanimity further additions to the load of the taxpayer; but if the ego in his cosmos were not so pronounced in its proportions he might by consultation find out that what the public is going to insist upon is substantial reductions in taxation.

Were a whole nation to start upon a new career of education, with mature faculties and minds free from prepossession or prejudice, how much would be quickly abandoned that is now most stubbornly cherished!—Chatfield.

A man takes contradiction and advice much more easily than people think, only he will not bear it when violently given, even though it be well-founded.—Richter.

'Slams and Salaams'

By H. T. M.

By H. T. M.

I have discovered that there are really a lot of very kind souls in Victoria. Yesterday a charming blonde person drifted into the editorial atmosphere and discovered me lolling over a desk—all frowsy and bleary — and three-quarters asleep.

"Are you dying," she inquired, severely, "or merely in deep debt?"

"Neither," I told her, morosely, "I'm just stuck."

"In what way?" she replied, still a little harshly.

"Well," I said, "the 'Chief's' on the sick list, so R.B.D.'s now in the Editorial Chair and consequently 'high-hatting' me, and I can't bear it—let alone try to write a column."

"Pouf!" she retorted with scorn. "If that's all that's worrying you, get off that desk and let me write it for you."

"Are you serious?" I asked hopefully.

"Of course," said the blonde person.

"My dear," I murmured fervently, "you're the sort of woman that only comes into a man's life two or three times—here, take this typewriter and hop to it, before your generosity grows chilly." (And she did, God bless her; and here it is—with Salaams to her immortal soul).

. . . .

What a break—the opportunity to slam and salaam to one's heart's content. What woman would pass up the opportunity!

Our first salaam is to Maryse, the French axiatrix who wanted to see Japan in "cherry blossom time." Most people have the desire and inclination—Japan cherry blossom time does sound fascinatingly intriguing—but alas! most people are too hemmed in by routine; too subject to convention, or too stifled by lack of the necessary to indulge in secret longings. Next year, perhaps, it may happen—but it seldom does! —and before one realizes another year has gone; another dream remains unfulfilled; and one is a little older, a little greyer (or less blonde) and dreams seem more intangible. Salaams, then, to Maryse, who had the courage to make her dreams come true.

And next, salaams to those brave young things one sees wandering around the streets of Victoria with stockingless legs. How they can do it with Victoria's pet winds roaring around fifty miles an hour is a mystery. Personally, one never felt Victoria was suitable for anything less than Winter togs until at least the middle of June; and that is quite aside from any aesthetic feelings one might have in the matter of bare limbs.

And slams, double slams, to those horrible creatures who step right over one at the stamp wicket. Especially if one has dutifully taken one's place in the line-up and been waiting several minutes. Generally the offenders are motherly-looking old ladies, who no doubt feel that their age entitles them to certain privileges, but once it was the head of quite a large business concern—and was one burned up? This sex equality may have its points, but courtesy is courtesy.

Slams to the Vancouver traveler whom one noticed carefully locking ALL doors of his automobile on Yates Street. Didn't he know that Victoria is not THAT kind of a city? Why, one business man left his car running outside a local department store for over fifty minutes the other day and no one even looked at the thing. And the Vancouver car wasn't even worth a second glance, much less "pinching."

Salaams to an elderly man one saw the other day. His clothes were shabby; his nose bibulous; his eyes watery, yet he managed to extract a great deal of enjoyment out of two beautiful dogs owned by someone else. His voice was cultured as he commented knowingly upon the fine points of the dogs, and one felt that he had within himself gifts that adversity could not down, nor prosperity mar. Salaams, again, and may the turn of the wheel convey him to more suitable surroundings.

Salaams to the kind souls who direct the destinies of women's clothes. Blues and greys are to be the popular colors and are they cheerful—especially the new blues? Color is so important that the whole national outlook may be changed by the influence the new shades will have upon feminine psychology. On Easter Sunday one noticed some delightful costumes, which showed that things couldn't be too bad when some of the populace could afford new outfits.

Slams to the stupidity and ignorance of the Vasco family on Hastings-on-the-Hudson. Their young daughter, Helen, has a tumor on the retina of the right eye, which, the doctors claim, will cause her death if allowed to grow. The parents, refusing to sanction the operation, are depriving their young child of a chance to live, and, it is evident, their objections can only be the result of superstition and ignorance. The Central European stock may be good immigrant material, but they are still the victims of century-old fear of witchcraft.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception.

"THE CALIPH OF BAGDAD"

Sir,—I have read in your paper that the staging of the above-mentioned play, by the Victoria Operatic Society, has resulted in a monetary loss. This is disastrous. My friends and I saw the show on the opening night, and so much enjoyed ourselves that I feel compelled to write this letter. In these days of so much dubious entertainment, it was more than refreshing to sit through this charming performance.

To those who saw it, it needs no comment; to those who did not, may I earnestly recommend them to attend the next production. Every citizen who is interested in the artistic, musical and social life of the city, should assist those talented artists who do their utmost in providing delightful and wholesome entertainment.

PENSIONS AND GOVERNMENT POSITIONS

Sir,—In your paper of the 12th inst. we read that the national office is working in fullest co-operation with the returned soldiers' organizations in the endeavor to have the Federal Government rescind the clause in the budget regarding the elimination of civil servant veterans' pensions. We also read on previous dates of the Government cutting certain grants and omitting others to municipalities, etc., on account of lack of funds, and then on top of this another big tax to keep things rolling for a little while longer.

But if a relief worker with several small children wishes to use his car, one hears nothing but thrift. Now, if the Government wishes to do the right thing by the public, it will give the pensioners the choice of either the position or pension, and swell the amount of the emergency employment plan, and place the thrift where it is required.

(MRS.) EDITH GILLESPIE.

FISHING AT MILL CREEK

Sir,—I wish to protest against the ill-advised steps which have been taken ostensibly to improve fishing in the Mill Creek, which is the outflow from Shawnigan Lake to the sea.

I have been fly-fishing in the Mill Creek for thirty years. Some years ago my basket would be two or three dozen sizeable trout. I would throw back about the same number of small ones. Of late years, worm and salmon-roe fishers have reduced the numbers, and last season, after the first few weeks, I found about one in twenty large enough to basket. The stream always gets very low in Summer, and the kingfishers and mergansers clean up everything in sight. Were it not for the log jams here and there along the creek there would not be one fish left.

During the last few years, at the opening of the season I have gone to one favorite spot, where there is about 150 yards of nice ripple above a log jam. On one occasion I got fifteen fish from ten to fifteen inches in length. Last season at the same place I got nine in about an hour.

This year I went to the same place and found that the log jam had been blasted—mixed up, but not removed. And, of course, not a sign of fish! Dynamite kills everything within a considerable radius, and this log jam, which had been the stronghold of the trout for a good distance up and down, is tenantless. I notice that the kingfishers, which swarmed all along the creek, are not to be seen. I have not seen even one!

As to bringing salmon up Mill Creek, the idea is ridiculous. Salmon will only go up streams where they were bred. If they wished to ascend the creek there is nothing to prevent them. They go up falls twice as steep in Ireland and Scotland, as I have seen.

Some twenty-five years ago some Shawnigan people induced the Government to put in a salmon ladder at Mill Bay which was up to date in every way. No salmon were ever known to take advantage of it, and eventually the flood carried it away.

The taxpayers' money could be put to better use than destroying the trout-fishing in this lovely little stream.

J. F. LENOX MACFARLANE, Major (Retired).

GROUP AT QUALICUM

Sir,—May I be permitted space to give my impressions as a guest at the Oxford Group house party held recently at Qualicum Beach. The house party commenced on the evening of the Thursday before Easter, guests arriving at the three hotels, which were all crammed to capacity in time for dinner. Introductions were made and "contacts" began immediately on arrival. On Good Friday a service was held and the work of "life changing" commenced. Small groups and couples could be seen in earnest discussion and the Oxford Group slogan that "life changing on a colossal scale is the only hope of the modern world today" was the theme.

Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of the movement, was everywhere in evidence, his small but dynamic personality seeming to literally "bounce" in and out of the various groups, leaving them gasping with some new idea that up to that moment had never entered their minds.

On Saturday "contacts" continued and the crowd of guests grew to such a number that only superlative management on the part of the hotel staff and the absolute willingness of the house party to cope with any emergency served to avoid chaos. Meetings of all kinds were held, each conducted by one or more members of the traveling "team."

But Sunday was the most marvelous day of all. Having heard that breakfast was not till 8 and, not being a regular communicant, to fill my stomach was my first thought. But was I allowed to? No. Sitting quietly in front of the hotel fire, the room was suddenly invaded by a wild rush of young people headed by the pretty daughter of an English knight and wild red-headed ex-Communist leader from Glasgow singing "Happy Easter," and I was forced in a sort of dance (in the rain, and swinging two chairs, mind you, reader), up the hill into the church. Here I listened to the most beautiful Communion service I have ever heard; singing without an accompaniment such as I never could have imagined, and once again I became a communicant. Following breakfast, the 11 o'clock service was an event I would not have missed for the world. Spontaneous short silences, glad-hearted singing, and tremendously able addresses by that master technician, Dr. Frank Buchman, Gerry McGeer, a lawyer, and the afore-mentioned singular character from the Glasgow "Red Flag Brigade," were the order of the day.

The afternoon was spent in cementing "contacts" formed during the house party, and that evening a huge gathering listened to story after story of difficulties solved, new hope given, families re-united and surrenders to Christ made; such as hardly could be imagined by the world outside that house party in Qualicum Beach.

On Monday there were more meetings and more friendships made. I was lucky enough to be present at an interview between a press reporter and a well-known member of the traveling "team," and to clear up from an entirely unbiased point of view one or two doubts obviously carried to the house party by that reporter. Certain misinformed or, perhaps, "misguided" reporters on provincial papers had quoted the movement as appealing more to the "dress clothes brigade" than to the general man in the street; but by the time that reporter left Qualicum, he was fully convinced after hearing of their work in the prisons, in leper colonies, among notorious bootleggers and those outlawed by their human neighbors, that it was not the "key-man" that the movement was out to get, but the "key-man" in every walk of life.

On Tuesday morning early the house party broke up and a more perfect Easter I have never enjoyed.

The Oxford Group movement, headed by the self-effacing but always present Lutheran minister from Pennsylvania, and made up of a zealous group of young men and women from Oxford, Cambridge, South Africa and elsewhere, will sweep on eastward through Canada, but they will leave behind them thousands of friends whom they have helped in British Columbia, who will wish them luck and a tremendous success in their future efforts

K. P. AUDAIN.

THE JEWS

Sir,—L. T. Ekman in your issue of the 18th inst., states that the word "Jew" "awakens vastly diverging sentiments"; it does; therefore I beg to state:

1. Abraham was not a Jew, not even "in the broader sense." So that what God said to Abraham was not said to a Jew but to a Hebrew.

2. The word "Jew" is not mentioned in the Bible until II Kings xvi, 2, about 1,200 years after the call of Abraham.

3. The Jew (or more correctly quoting Scripture, Judah), certainly had the oracles, but Israel had the Dominion. "When Israel came out of Egypt, Judah was his sanctuary and Israel his dominion."

4. There is the Kingdom of Israel (ten tribes), and the Kingdom of Judah with Benjamin (two tribes), and Jehovah so arranged it. Any ordinary Bible lesson teaches this fact.

5. Josephus in his "History of the Jews," clearly distinguishes between Israel (ten tribes), Jews and Hebrews.

6. Would the writer furnish me with any Scripture references regarding temporal blessings or punishments made to the Jews under that name in the Bible? Save and except the real Jews who crucified our Lord.

7. It is well to remember that all Jews are Israelites, but not all Israelites are Jews. Likewise, all McGregors may be Scotch, but not all Scotch are McGregors.

8. All punishment, blessings and prophecies were always made either to the House of Israel, or the House of Judah; most terrible confusion arises if they are applied to the wrong nation.

9. Thomas Paine got the Jews and Israel mixed up, and it led to infidelity.

10. The great mistake the churches make is the spiritualizing the temporal and national blessing to the nation Israel.

11. Judah is to walk to Israel in the latter days. How can he if there is no Israel nation existing today to walk towards?

I shall be pleased to furnish literature to Mr. Ekman if he desires further enlightenment upon his interesting subject.

CORRECTION OF REPORT

Dear Sir,—Referring to the attached copy of statements made in your issue of the 11th instant regarding the association, we cannot understand on whose authority and from what source you accepted and printed such misleading and damaging statements

At the present time we have no intention of establishing a fish buying station on the West Coast of Queen Charlotte Islands, and as far as our own district is concerned, we have three camps in operation with a quota so far of 110 boats, with a production in March of 65,692 pounds of red spring salmon, which is steadily increasing. In furtherance, we wish it clearly understood that Nelson Bros.' fish buying camp at North Island has no connection whatsoever with this association. In our opinion, this false information you received was given with malicious intent so as to endeavor to divert any more of our fishermen from coming to this district and draw them to Queen Charlotte Islands under the cloak of our Co-operative Association.

Under these circumstances, we must ask you to advise us the source of your information and also through the medium of your paper, to refute these false statements.

Trusting you will give this your immediate attention.

A. THOMSON, Secretary.

Kyuquot Trollers Co-operative Association, April 15, 1933.

LOT GARDENS

Sir,—Now that nearly every family—some for the first time in their lives—are planting gardens to provide their table with vegetables, it might interest some to know what has been a great help to us. That is, a Government bulletin entitled "Gardening on a City Lot," written by E. W. White, District Horticulturist, and it is free on request at the Parliament Buildings or by mail.

It contains a garden plan, suggests what to sow, when and how to sow it and how to cultivate for best results, a very handy little book.

We studied the bulletin, then on a sheet of paper made a list of the things we wanted, with headlines, date to sow (in consecutive order), distance between rows, depth to sow seed, when sown, when seen up. Then we start at the top and go down the page, getting the seed in as near to the proper time as weather and circumstances permit. We carry the bulletin in our pocket for other reference.

Also, since the Victoria Horticultural Society has so kindly invited everyone to attend their meetings and ask all the questions one desires, it is a real pleasure and very profitable to listen to lectures by Mr. White, District Horticulturist, on the garden and how to manage it, and Mr. Downs, Dominion Entomologist, on insects and pests and how to deal with them; also very interesting addresses by the secretary, Mr. Whiteoak, and Mr. Atwood; to hear many questions and answers and much discussion on gardening problems.

I was told there are about thirty practical gardeners in the society, all willing to help a beginner.

Reach Verdict of Accidental Death

Accidental death was the verdict reached at the inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death of John Reid, who passed away on Saturday from blood poisoning.

Dr. A. D. Bechtel, testified to having been called to attend the deceased on April 7. He had injuries to his left wrist caused by small splinters of wood having run into the flesh.

William Nield, who was employed at the Lemon, Gonnason mill, gave evidence to the effect that, on April 6, the deceased had complained of a pain in his arm which came from sores about the wrist caused by splinters entering the flesh. Witness had advised him to report to the office.

Alvin Gonnason, a member of the firm, said that the deceased had worked for about ten years about the lumber yard. He had reported the injuries about a week ago. In the work of piling lumber some of the men used gloves and some did not. The coroner, Dr. E. C. Hart, explained that the inquest was necessary in connection with the Workmen's Compensation Act.

SEATTLE DETECTIVE CHIEF PASSES AWAY

SEATTLE, April 18 (AP).—Chief of Detectives Charles Tennant, fifty-nine, who had won a wide reputation in crime detection throughout the West, died at a hospital late yesterday, a victim of a paralytic stroke. He had been at work during the morning.

Removed from his home after he had been stricken, his wife and their son, Albert James, and his old friend and co-worker, former Police Chief William B. Kent, were at the bedside at the end.

Tennant was a native of New Zealand and the son of a miner. He came to Washington with his parents in 1881.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 130th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the new Esquimalt drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of April 19, 1883)

Man Drowns—As the bark Tiber was leaving Esquimalt harbor on Monday evening, one of the mutinous sailors, who had just been released from irons, watched his opportunity and leaped overboard. He was not seen again, although a boat was put out to look for him. The man was one of the sailors who was brought from San Francisco by the Dakota on her last trip and who had to be taken aboard by force.

Improvements—In every quarter of the city is heard the sound of trowel, hammer and saw. Buildings of an improved class are being erected. Tenement houses are in great demand at high rentals. Competent mechanics will experience no difficulty in obtaining employment in the city at good wages.

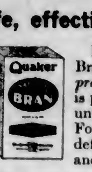

City Lighting—R. B. McMicking met the City Council last evening and brought forward a plan whereby he can light the city with electricity. He was advised that the meeting was not entirely official, and it was arranged that Mr. McMicking outline his proposal at the next weekly meeting of the council.

Soccer Match—This afternoon, at 3 o'clock, members of H.M.S. Swiftsure will meet a representative Victoria football eleven on the Beacon Hill grounds.

Doctors advise this natural corrective for Constipation!

Not a drug . . . safe, effective, economical!

Stop sour stomach, bad breath, headaches and all constipation ills. You can do it easily, cheaply with Quaker Bran.

Quaker Bran, the coating of the wheat, is milled so soft it cannot irritate. Yet it is effective. It works with nature to produce normal, healthy bowel movement . . . persuading the intestinal muscles to normal activity.

Remember, Quaker Bran is different from all prepared bran cereals. It is pure bran, uncooked—untreated—unadulterated. For these reasons it is definitely richer in mineral and vitamin content.

Serve it with your regular cereal each morning or in muffins, cookies, etc. There is a recipe book in every package.

QUAKER BRAN

Pure, Natural, packaged bran.

DEATH TAKES SAMUEL SEA

Native Son Succumbs in Sierra Madre Following Lengthy Illness

Word was received here yesterday of the death in Sierra Madre, California, of Samuel Sea, aged sixty-four years, a native son of Victoria. Mr. Sea has been in failing health for the past year. He was the eldest son of the late Samuel and Mrs. Sea, of Marigold.

Born in Victoria, Mr. Sea received his education in the old Boys' Central School and the Victoria High School. He entered the clothing business at an early age and was still active in this enterprise until a year ago when his health failed. In 1897 he bought out his employer, and in 1899 entered partnership with F. A. Gowen.

MOVES TO SEATTLE

In 1908 the firm dissolved when the store was burned to the ground, and Mr. Sea moved to Seattle. He returned to Victoria for a few years and then moved, in 1913, to Fairbanks, Alaska, where he became active in the clothing and advertising business. Returning to Victoria, he again identified himself with local clothiers, taking the position of manager in Chatton's clothing store. In 1923 he moved to California, having accepted a position with a silk company. He remained in the South until the time of his death.

He is survived by his widow, in Sierra Madre; two sisters, Mrs. J. Turnbull, Victoria, and Mrs. A. M. Sinclair, Marigold, and one brother, William Lovell Sea, of Marigold.

STAR CANADIAN RUGGER PASSES

Charley Wentworth Dies Suddenly —Played With Varsity and V.A.C. Squads

VANCOUVER, April 18 (CP).—Canadian football public which thrilled to sensational runs and gridiron feats of blond-thatched Charley Wentworth, will learn with regret of his passing unexpectedly at his home in Los Angeles, Sunday night. Wentworth, an athletic product of Eastern prep schools, Tamalpais School, in California, and later of Stanford University, came to Vancouver in 1927 to attend the University of British Columbia. For two years Coach Dr. Gordon Burke made Wentworth the pivot of his attack along with the scintillating "Cokey" Shields.

After leaving the University of British Columbia, the "golden tornado" played with V.A.C. for two years under the direction of Coach Norman Burley.

Wentworth is survived by his wife and infant daughter. Mrs. Wentworth, formerly Miss Helen Kilmer, is well known in Vancouver.

JUMBO DAVIES LOSES VERDICT

Local Boy Decisioned by Eddie Ivory—Israel Beats Miller

SEATTLE, April 18 (AP). — Able Israel, doughty Seattle scrapper, staggered Freddie Miller, of Cincinnati, recognized N.B.A. featherweight champion, twice in the sixth and last round, with right smashes to the chin tonight, and won a decision in a non-title bout. Israel weighed 127 3-4 and Miller 127 1-2.

In the semi-final, Henry Woods, sensational Yakima negro lightweight, won a rousing six-round decision over Stanley Kransberg, Grand Rapids, Mich., Woods weighing 137 3-4, and his opponent, 140.

Eddie Ivory, Vancouver welterweight, scored a slashing four-round decision over Jumbo Davies, Victoria, in a four-round preliminary, both throwing plenty of punches. They drew when they met here last time.

Plane Falls in Wheat Field and Four Are Killed

ST. LOUIS, April 18 (AP).—Four persons, one a wealthy Arkansas planter, were killed today when the airplane in which they were flying from Augusta, Ark., to St. Louis, crashed and burned in a wheat field near Valmeyer, Ill., about twenty-five miles south of here.

The dead are W. M. Gregory, wealthy Arkansas planter; his son, William, Jr.; Mayor G. W. Martin and Glen Herndon, merchant, all of Augusta.

DR. E. B. GUNG MAY LEAVE VICTORIA

Dr. Edward B. Gung, Victoria medical officer in charge of medical missionary work for Japanese and Chinese under the United Church of Canada, has been offered a similar position in Vancouver at the Oriental Mission Hospital. Dr. Gung is awaiting the arrival of Rev. Dr. S. S. Osterhout, who is the representative of Oriental missions of the United Church in British Columbia, for a conference before he decides on the offer.

After graduation from the Toronto Medical School, Dr. Gung came to Victoria in 1926. Dr. Osterhout will conduct baptismal services in Victoria on April 30.

STAFF CHANGES ARE APPROVED

Three Members of Fire Department Promoted and Two Superannuated

Three members of the city fire department were promoted, and two others placed on superannuation, by the City Council at its meeting last night.

On the recommendation of the fire wardens, Captain J. Raymond and Captain R. Taylor were promoted to the positions of senior captains, two entirely new posts. Captain Raymond has been with the force since 1910, while Captain Taylor joined in 1912.

Their duties will be to assist the chief generally and take charge in his absence of their respective platoons. These promotions are effective on April 19. An increase in salary was granted each officer.

Captain F. W. Zeigler, who has been with the force since 1907, will be superannuated on May 31, as also will Frank Henry, who has been in service twenty-nine years.

Replacing Captain Zeigler will be Lieutenant J. H. Russell. This promotion and the superannuations will take effect May 31.

Macauley Club Championship to Start on Sunday

Entries for the Macauley Point Golf Club championship will close with the secretary on Thursday at 5 p.m. The qualifying test will be over eighteen holes, with the low sixteen entering the championship flight. The rest of the field will be divided into flights. Post entries will be accepted.

MARCEL RAINVILLE WINS SECOND ROUND IN NET TOURNAMENT

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va., April 18 (AP).—Marcel Rainville, Canadian Davis Cup player, of Montreal, today won his second-round match in the Mason and Dixon tennis tournament, defeating Gerald F. Warburg, of New York, 6-0, 6-2, in the first match of the day.

BOWLING TOUR OFF

WOODSTOCK, Ont., April 18 (CP).—The proposed tour of Canadian lawn bowlers to the British Isles has been abandoned for the present year, Dr. W. Krupp, retiring president of the Canadian Lawn Bowling Council, announced today.

At the annual meeting of the council, Walter B. Cowan, Toronto, was elected to succeed Dr. Krupp as president, with W. G. House re-elected secretary-treasurer.

SALTSPRING ISLAND, April 18. — The football match played last Monday afternoon in the Agricultural Grounds, between Ganges and Princess Pats, resulted in a win for Ganges, 8 to 2.

TO CONTINUE MEETINGS

Dr. Martin S. Charles and Rev. Ralph Underwood, converted atheist leaders, will continue their meetings throughout the week at the Pentecostal Assembly, Broad Street, every evening, including Saturday, at 8 o'clock, closing on Sunday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m. The attendance at all services thus far has been exceptionally good.

GEESE GOING NORTH

WINNIPEG, April 18 (CP). — Hundreds and thousands of snow and blue geese have arrived at Grant's Lake, near here, in the first big movement to their annual feeding and resting grounds north of Winnipeg. Later they will fly farther north to breed.

TO BE MAYORALTY CANDIDATE

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP).—Former Mayor John F. Hylan announced last night he would be an independent candidate for Mayor of New York in the election of next November. His administration preceded that of James J. Walker, and he is now a children's court judge.

Acting Mayor Appointed by City Council

Alderman James Adam, senior member of the council, was appointed acting-mayor during the absence of Mayor David Leeming, at last night's meeting of the City Council.

Mayor Leeming will be away from the city for about two weeks. He is attending a conference in Ottawa on unemployment relief.

Alderman R. T. Williams, who moved the motion that Alderman Adam be appointed acting-mayor, expressed the hope that he would hold the mayor's position by popular vote in the not too distant future.

'CELLIST HAS FINE WELCOME

Michel Penha Given Noisy Ovation in Recital at Empress Hotel

Just a few months ago Victoria was introduced for the first time to the unique genius of Michel Penha, 'cellist, conductor and teacher, who came here with the Neah-Kah-Nie Quartette. Last night, in his recital at the Empress Hotel, his special gift as a performer on his chosen instrument was much more fully demonstrated in a very fine programme, which included such little-known works as the "Toccata" by Frescobaldi, and Maurage's "Meditation"; while more familiar but none the less interesting works by Bach, Haydn, Boccherini and Popper rounded out an evening of supreme enjoyments.

There seems no limit to Mr. Penha's capacities on the 'cello. His technique has both strength and facility; the tone is luxuriant, round and supple, and an exuberant quality pervades all his playing. In even the silkiest and most pianissimo phrases or passages one is conscious of the strength and sureness of the hand, the certainty and authority of the mental and emotional control. He is superlatively fine in his execution, and a supreme master of mood, and the audience tried by its boisterous applause to demonstrate appreciation of his magnificent artistry.

PROFOUND INTEREST

The programme was remarkable in its variety and profound musical interest. In the opening group, without leaving the platform, he played the Frescobaldi "Toccata," with its gracious opening movement succeded by the more vigorous-voiced toccata proper; the Bach "Adagio," a masterpiece of slow movement in a sustained mood of profound yet tender melancholy, and the gay and laughter-tinted Haydn "Theme and Variations." After the dazzling unaccompanied Bach "Bourree," added as an encore to these, he gave, as an isolated number, the very fine three-movement Boccherini "Concerto in B Flat Major," a work cast on big lines, and in its entirety giving a fine revelation of Mr. Penha's magnificent equipment. Dazzling dexterity of hand in the allegro moderato movement, a beautiful singing legato tone of satiny sheen in the adagio, and grace and gaiety in the rondo, made this an enchanting number.

SAINT-SAENS

The big work of the second part of the programme was the Saint-Saens' "Sonata" for 'cello and piano, in three movements. A wonderful composition, the most unusual portion was the second movement, the "Andante Tranquillo," where legato and staccato alternated in the two instruments. The duetto was played with great brilliance by both 'cellist and pianist, Ralph Linsley, at the piano, showing himself here, as elsewhere through the programme, a resourceful, scholarly and highly accomplished artist. The allegro moderato movement had an infectious spontaneity of treatment that made it a fine climax.

In the last group were included the Maurage "Meditation," a lovely song-like melody showing the 'cellist's luxuriant tone in its most poetic mood; the graceful, sensitive, caressingly-tempoed Debussy Menuet"; Faure's charming "Apres un reve," and the brilliant Popper show piece, "Vito," with its strongly accented tempo. To this rich programme was added still another little "Spanish Tune" as an encore.

Under the same auspices, the Beaux Arts, the Neah-Kah-Nie Quartette will give a concert tomorrow night at the Empress Hotel.

FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral of John Reid, who passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on April 16, will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary Chapel, Rev. Canon H. W. G. Stocken officiating. Interment will be made at Royal Oak Burial Park.

JAILED FOR BEGGING

George Oxland, who claims Halifax as his home, made one mistake when he came to Victoria and that mistake cost him one month in jail. Oxland was charged with vagrancy and it appeared he had asked Police Inspector John T. Boulton, who was in plain clothes, for "a dime." Inspector Boulton warned him against begging on the streets, but he did not heed the warning and when police took him in charge in Oriental Alley, he had consumed a quantity of rubbing alcohol and was still searching for dimes. He asked for a chance to get out of the city, but was refused by Magistrate Jay.

CHARLEY BELANGER LOSES DECISION

FLINT, Mich., April 18 (AP). — Charley Belanger, Winnipeg's veteran ringman, dropped a ten-round decision to Larry Johnson, of Chicago, here last night. Johnson piled up an early point lead with a trip-hammer right that beat a tattoo on the Manitoban's ribs. Belanger closed fast but was unable to make up for his slow start. Belanger weighed 158, four pounds more than the winner.

Thirteen Youths Building Planes For Local Flying

THIRTEEN youths are building their own airplanes in this city, Alderman W. D. Todd announced at last night's meeting of the City Council, when asking that certain improvements be made to the runway at the Gordon Head airport. The work, however, was left in abeyance until it is ascertained by the airport committee what agreement there is between the city and Saanich, in connection with such work. The general understanding is that Saanich is to carry out any necessary improvements or repairs, while the city pays for the lease. A plane built here by a young Victorian was tested some months ago, and proved to be in good running order.

Former Victoria Barrister Dead

CRANBROOK, April 18.—The funeral was held here Saturday of Henry W. Herchmer, prominent barrister, who passed away after a long illness.

Mr. Herchmer was born in Kingston, Ont., July 31, 1866. He first practiced law in Morden, Man., remaining there until 1897. In that year he came to Fort Steele, forming a partnership with the late W. R. Ross. After a year the firm moved to Fernie, where he continued to practice until 1910, when he moved to Victoria. He returned and opened an office in Cranbrook about ten years ago. For some time he was Crown prosecutor here.

Poles Assert Life Becoming Constantly More Insecure in Free City of Danzig

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, April 18 (AP).—Kasimir Papee, the Polish diplomatic representative, presented a memorandum to the League of Nations commissioner for Danzig today, asserting that life was becoming constantly more insecure here.

"Disquieting signs keep multiplying to indicate the impotence of police organs or the immunity from punishment of certain political organizations which commit excesses," he said in the memorandum.

The Danzig Senate countered was a declaration calculated to disprove these allegations.

The advent of the Hitler Government in Germany saw an intensification of the German campaign to reunite East Prussia with the rest of the Reich. This programme runs counter to Poland's demand that her access to the sea must be maintained, and relations between Berlin and Warsaw have become somewhat strained.

Is this the next BIG CHANGE in Life Insurance ?

THE TIME WAS—and not so long ago—that many men looked upon life insurance as money to cover the cost of their funerals.

Then came the next stage. Men realized how easily they could arrange protection for wife and children. Life insurance was purchased as protection.

Now having seen the collapse of the "new era" of speculation ... having lost entire fortunes too late in life to recover them ... having experienced bitter financial losses in an effort to recuperate dwindling investment values ... men are finding their life insurance to be the soundest investment they have made.

This will probably bring about the next big change in men's viewpoint on life insurance. No longer will they look upon it only as a temporary solution of a pressing family money problem. Not again will they regard it as a financial burden from which they cannot profit while they live. They now look upon it as a sound and profitable investment that brings as large returns as possible commensurate with safety.

Life Insurance offers everything you could expect from other forms of investment plus absolute protection for your family if you should pass away.

It protects your home, guarantees the education of your children, and if you live provides an income for your years of retirement. In short, it enables you to set up every needed safeguard and at the same time have your money work for you.

THE GREAT-WEST LIFE has solved the insurance problem for many men and women throughout the land. We have a plan for every need. Write today for complete information about any form of life insurance in which you are interested. Full details together with a copy of our latest financial statement will be sent without obligation.

JUNIOR CHAMBER TO HANDLE CELEBRATION

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to the City Council last night, expressed its willingness to handle the May 24 celebration this year, and stated that any surplus obtained would be turned back to the city.

The council has made a grant of $1,000 to help in financing the celebration.

TO ADDRESS GROUP

Peter Smart will speak on "The Restoration of the Jews Is Sure and Certain," at the monthly meeting of the Jewish Outlook and Missionary Effort Group on Friday evening. The meeting will be held at the residence of R. McDonald, 930 Heywood Avenue, at 8 o'clock. All interested are welcome.

WAS BURIED YESTERDAY

The funeral service was held on Tuesday morning for Thomas Raymond Keith Hobkirk, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. Rev. A. deB. Owen officiated. The remains were laid at rest at Ross Bay Cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers: H. G. Winter, representing the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion, and L. Whitlaw, G. Knight, J. Roberts, F. B. Banks, and G. Little, representing the Tuberculous Veterans' Association.

LAID AT REST

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Canon Chadwick, on Tuesday afternoon, for Jane Dodshon. The remains were laid at rest at Ross Bay Cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers: F. Briers, J. A. McAllister, E. Bennett, J. Robertson, H. Dyer, and A. McDonald.

WAGING WAR ON LOCUSTS

Chemical Department of War Office Experimenting With Airplanes

In a fresh war which science is waging against locusts, the insect pests which cause such widespread destruction, the speed of air transport is now playing a valuable part.

Experts at the War Office Chemical Department on Salisbury Plain are studying methods by which locust swarms may be exterminated while on the wing, and it was in connection with these experiments, just lately, that it was desired to obtain as quickly as possible a considerable number of live locusts.

To meet this demand the Government of Kenya shipped several crates of insects to London by Imperial Airways.

IMPORTANT TESTS

Only seven days after having been put on board an air-liner at Nairobi, the locusts were unloaded at the London airport, and were sent immediately to the research laboratories on Salisbury Plain. Here it was found that, though a certain number had died on the journey, there were sufficient left alive to provide material for a number of important tests, during some of which the insects were placed in wind-tunnels and subjected to a spraying treatment with creosote, and also with sodium arsenite dust.

CLOUDS OF CHEMICALS

The idea of the present experiments is to discover improved methods for dealing with the locust plague in Africa, and more particularly to evolve methods whereby airplanes can attack locusts when they are on the wing and destroy them by releasing clouds of chemicals which are found to be most deadly in their effect.

African administrations are collaborating actively in this new campaign, which is a matter of considerable importance to them, seeing that during the past few years it is reckoned the damage caused by locusts has amounted to over £6,000,000.

DEATH REMOVES RICHARD TRURAN

Native Son of Victoria Had Resided Here Fifty-Eight Years—Funeral Tomorrow

Richard Thomas Oliver Truran, a native son of Victoria, passed away at his residence, 1766 Denman Street, on Monday, at the age of fifty-eight years.

Mr. Truran spent his lifetime in Victoria, and for many years was employed with the firm of Pither & Leiser. He was a member of Victoria Post No. 1, Native Sons of British Columbia, always taking an active and enthusiastic part in the work of the organization.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Clive; a daughter, Ida; a brother, John, in Fairbanks, and a sister, Mrs. William Lindsay, in Vancouver, and by a niece and nephew.

The remains are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, where the funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

City and District

To Form Scout Troop—The organization of the Boy Scout troop sponsored by the Toc H group will take place tonight in Toc H headquarters, 342 Harrison Street, at 8 o'clock. All interested are asked to attend.

Returns to Victoria—His Honor Judge J. Charles McIntosh, who has been sitting in County Court in Vancouver for the past seven months, has returned to Victoria and has resumed his duties at the Bastion Street Courthouse.

Common Assault Charged—Friday morning was fixed by Magistrate Jay in the city police court yesterday as the date for hearing a charge and counter charge of common assault involving Bisa Singh and Howard Lillie.

False Pretences Charge — Henry Wilson, who is charged with obtaining the sum of $4 by false pretences, appeared before Magistrate Jay in the city police court yesterday morning and was remanded, at his own request, until this morning.

No Collection—Owing to an inaccuracy in information given to The Colonist, it was reported that a collection was taken up at last Sunday's band concert in Beacon Hill Park. Such, however, was not the case.

Invited South—The members of the Kiwanis Club have been invited to join in a convention of the California-Nevada clubs of the organization, to be held in Los Angeles at the end of June. Any members able to attend will be given a hearty welcome.

Financial Visitors—E. S. Ball, superintendent of the mortgage department of the Sun Life Assurance Company, Montreal, and E. D. Munro, of Vancouver, loan manager of the company for British Columbia, are at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Ball is making an inspection tour of the West.

Remanded for Trial — Charged with an infraction of the Electrical Inspection Act, V. M. Clarke was arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the city police court yesterday morning. At the request of his counsel, Gordon A. Cameron, the trial was adjourned for one week. A. D. King is acting as counsel for the B.C. Electric.

Masonic Service—Members of the Masonic craft and their families are invited to attend divine service at the First Baptist Church next Sunday night at 7 o'clock, when special features will be presented by the Shrine Band and vocal soloists. Rev. G. A. Reynolds, pastor, will conduct the service. The band will play from 7 to 7:30 o'clock.

Woman Hurt—Mrs. F. O. Shoemaker, of 1631 Begbie Street, was struck by a car driven by William Maynard, of 922 Park Boulevard, yesterday afternoon while she was crossing Yates Street at the Douglas Street intersection. The woman suffered shock and bruises, but after being given first aid, was able to go home.

Permits Issued—The new general purpose permit of the Liquor Control Board came into effect yesterday, at twenty-five cents. The permits are good for all individual purposes until December 31. Sale of beer from vendors' stores on telephone orders is being rapidly worked out, and will be brought into effect all over the Province some time early in May.

March Coal Output—Coal production in British Columbia for March was 106,164 tons, compared with 146,406 tons in March, 1932, a serious drop in all producing areas. Vancouver Island production was 49,663 tons; Nicola-Princeton, 16,155 tons; East Kootenay, 38,974 tons. Michel coke output was confined to 781 tons; while the Bulkley Valley Colliery mined 372 tons of coal in the Northern district.

Will Not Retire—James Barf, city building inspector, in a letter to last night's council meeting, said he had reconsidered his decision in connection with his application for superannuation, and was willing to allow his retirement to be postponed until March 1, 1934. He also expressed his appreciation for the many kind words that had been said in connection with his services to the city.

Province in Test—Col. Eric Pepler, of the Attorney-General's Department, will go East to Ottawa, leaving today, to appear before the Supreme Court of Canada on an appeal which affects the Province. A sum of $5,600, assessed as income tax against the sale of two properties on Granville Street, sold by M. B. McDonald, Ltd., is at stake. The Provincial Assessor at Vancouver is the nominal respondent in the appeal, taken by J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., on behalf of the appellant.

Authorize Investments — Two purchases and one exchange for sinking fund investments were authorized by the City Council last night. They are as follows: Exchange £1,297 C.N.O.R. 3.5 per cent bonds due 1961 at $75 for £400 City of Victoria 4 per cent bonds due 1960 and $897 City of Victoria 4 per cent bonds due 1962 at 73; purchase of $1,000 City of Victoria 5 per cent bonds due 1945 at $87.63 to yield 6.5 per cent, and $1,000 City of Victoria 5 per cent bonds due 1940 at 90.10 to yield 6.7 per cent.

Trials Are Adjourned—Rodolf Lee Duke, alias Jack Law, charged with obtaining lodgings by false pretences, was remanded until next Tuesday for hearing when he appeared in the city police court yesterday morning. Alexander Lanchuck, charged with permitting drunkenness in his premises, was remanded until this morning for hearing. Albert Saddler, charged with theft and with breaking and entering the liquor sample room in the Belmont Building, was also remanded. He will appear Friday morning for trial.

Consider Commissions — Appointment of a Royal Commission to study taxation resources of British Columbia municipalities was under review by the Provincial Cabinet yesterday. The matter is still under advisement and no choice has yet been made, a spokesman for the Government said later. If a court order is issued in respect to Prince Rupert at the suit of bondholders, the Government will consider appointment of a commissioner there. No appointment has yet been made in respect to Merritt, but the facts are under review.

WILD SCENE AT SANITY TRIAL

Condemned Woman's Wild Cries Fill Court—Threats by Convicts Reported

FLORENCE, Arizona, April 18 (AP).—Shrieking imprecations in a wild voice, Winnie Ruth Judd was removed forcibly yesterday to her state prison cell from the courtroom where a hearing was in progress to determine her sanity.

After a few minutes at the prison and a short drive around country roads in custody of Warden A. G. Walker, the convicted slayer of Agnes Anne Leroi returned to the courtroom meekly, sat down in a chair and stared at the carpet beneath her feet.

RELATIVES TESTIFY

The outburst came while her husband, Dr. William C. Judd, was upon the witness stand testifying to a belief that his wife was insane. He had been preceded by the parents of the young woman, Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, of Darlington, Ind., who readily related to the jury of twelve men the belief that their daughter was a victim of insanity which had been traced back 125 years within the family.

Mrs. Judd's wild cries and gestures broke upon the courtroom like a storm.

"Leave me alone!" she suddenly screamed. "Quit torturing me, you bullies, you cowards, you gangsters—quit torturing me!" So piercing were her screams that the shouts of a state attorney, demanding her removal, could hardly be heard.

MUTTERINGS IN PRISON

While the condemned woman's husband was telling of her emotional outbursts and strange requests, reports came from the prison that mutterings had been provoked within the walls by the state's victory in a fight to have Mrs. Judd examined by two psychiatrists, with her lawyers excluded.

Word was reported to have been sent from the prison to Dr. Joseph Catton, San Francisco alienist, that if he examined Mrs. Judd and testified she is sane:

"Watch yourself if you ever come in the prison again."

Warden Walker unofficially expressed some concern at the reports, but indicated he was prepared to preserve order if any open insurrection developed.

TO OFFER PLAY HERE NEXT WEEK

The many followers of the Victoria Little Theatre Association await with keen anticipation the presentation of Sutton Vane's three-act fantastic drama, which will open at the Shrine Auditorium on April 28 for a two-night run. "Outward Bound" enjoyed tremendous popularity in New York and on the Continent, and its tense, gripping gives scope for much fine acting and direction.

Leslie Lamb, who directs this production, has had much experience both as an actor and a director, being for some years connected with the Winnipeg Little Theatre Association. His work in "R.U.R." will be remembered by many, as well as his direction of "The House With the Twisty Windows."

PLOT OF PLAY

The plot of the play unfolds itself on board a mysterious liner bound for an unknown destination. The passenger list, composed of nine ill-assorted people, and "Scrubby," the steward, are the players whose common bond is to learn their ultimate destination and just how they happened to be aboard. Those portraying the various roles are: Ann, Betty Jennings; Henry, Charles Swannell; Mrs. Cliveden-Banks, Mrs. Mabel Ridley; Mrs. Midget, Mrs. Gwen Downes; Tom, Roy Shadbolt; Rev. William Dukes, Jack Shadbolt; Mr. Lingley, Leslie Hardie; "Scrubby," Hugh Creelman; Rev. Mr. Thompson, Charles Ozard.

No pains are being spared by working committees to make every detail of "Outward Bound" perfect. Those in charge of scenery and properties have assembled old ships' portholes, steamer chairs, nautical furniture of all kinds to give exactly the right atmosphere to the setting. Special lighting effects will be another phase of the scenery.

Mourn Death of Mrs. W. L. Saxton

At the Jubilee Hospital, on Monday, the death occurred of Mrs. Zela May Saxton, aged thirty-one years. Born in the State of Oregon, she had been a resident of this city for nine years, lately residing at 499 Head Street. She is survived by her husband, William L. Saxton, three sons and one daughter, at home; her mother, Mrs. Maude Philips, Forest Grove, B.C.; two brothers and six sisters.

The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary Chapel, from where the funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

HIGHER INCOME TAX SUGGESTED

University Professor Outlines Proposals for Equalizing School Support

VANCOUVER, April 18 (CP).—Addressing the British Columbia Teachers' Federation in convention here, this afternoon, Dr. G. M. Weir, of the University of British Columbia, suggested lower taxation on real property, and a higher income tax rate for equalizing cost of school support.

Lack of scientific system of equalizing cost of school support and undue burden placed on real property are two grave defects in present school financing methods, the speaker said.

"There was in British Columbia in 1931-32 assessable wealth to the extent of roughly $800,000,000," he continued. "Land and improvements exempt from taxation totaled an additional $150,000,000.

"If the total school levy were placed on real property and taxable improvements, a uniform seven-mill rate on the $800,000,000 would yield the $5,600,000 necessary for teachers' salaries. Such a rate, however, would be too heavy for many localities."

Under present conditions incomes of certain people escape school taxation.

In strong denunciation of some suggested school economies, Dr. Weir declared it is ordinarily false economy to pull down the house to save the garage, or to destroy in one year what it would take twenty years to construct.

U.S. TRADE SHOWS BIG DROP IN MARCH

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP).—Exports from the United States dropped $46,876,000 to $108,000,000 during March, as compared with the same month of 1932, while imports declined from $131,189,000 to $95,000,000.

The excess of exports over imports was placed by the Commerce Department today at $13,000,000, as compared with $23,687,000 during March of last year.

For the three-month period ending with March, exports were $330,123,000, against $458,870,000 for the same period of last year, and imports were $274,756,000, against $397,708,000.

FUNERAL SERVICE

QUALICUM BEACH, April 18.—An immense crowd assembled to pay last tribute to Mrs. W. Hackworth, and large quantities of wreathes and crosses of flowers covered the grave. Rev. C. Finnemore conducted the service. The pallbearers were E. Sanders, N. Gibson, R. McMillan, John Miller, D. M. McDonald, and S. Cunningham.

Hon. Michael Morris Married in London

LONDON, April 18 (AP).—A wedding of interest to many Canadians was held today when Hon. Michael Morris, son of Lord Morris, former premier of Newfoundland, was married to Jean, eldest daughter of Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. David Maitland-MacGill-Crichton.

Six bridesmaids included two cousins, Otto and Betty Williams. The others were Sue Snelling, Betty Walford, Oriel Lucas Scudmore and Letitia Borthwick. Cyril Salmon acted as best man.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD

Funeral services for David Harold Fair were held Tuesday afternoon in the Pentecostal Assembly Hall, Broad Street. A very large number of sympathizing friends were present to pay their last respects to one of their respected members. Rev. C. M. Ward conducted an impressive service. Assisting Mr. Ward were Rev. Daniel Walker and Evangelist Charles. Interment was made in the Royal Oak Burial Park. The following acted as pallbearers: R. Taylor, James Robinson, J. Arthur Wild, G. Clemo, A. Abbott, and E. S. Morgan.

A BIGGER Yeast Cake — at the same price!

IT'S news—to save you money—a larger cake of Fleischmann's Yeast . . . by one-third!

You've eaten yeast, perhaps—or if you haven't you know of its wonderful benefits in cases of constipation, indigestion, skin troubles and "run-down" health.

You know you should eat it—to feel really "fit" and well. And now you can eat it even more cheaply!

Famous doctors advise Fleischmann's Yeast because it actually "tones" the system. It strengthens the bowels—softens the poison-forming waste masses—and helps remove them gently.

And that is the first step—always—to true, abundant health.

In addition—Fleischmann's fresh Yeast is very rich in three vitamins—B, G and D—elements often lacking in our diet, yet absolutely indispensable.

So—if you're not now enjoying real health, get a supply of Fleischmann's Yeast from your grocer's, or at a drug store, restaurant or soda fountain.

Just eat two cakes daily. You can't start too soon!

DR. CARRASCO CADENAS, noted Spanish Sanitorium head, states: "It is very easy to correct constipation—with fresh yeast. It 'tones' the intestines . . . brings improved appetite and digestion."

Railway Engineers Believe 300 Miles Per Hour Possible

New Type of Electrically-Driven Train Would Cross Continent in Ten Hours in Safety—May Be Next Development

Decline in railroad passenger revenues is due to the change of the people's travel habits, according to the Erie Railroad's monthly magazine. Perhaps no single fact so strikingly illustrates the change that has occurred in the traveling habits of the American people during the past twelve years as that, in 1920, the average inhabitant of this country traveled 440 miles by railroad, and in 1931 only 177 miles, a reduction of sixty per cent.

This reduction has not been mainly due to the depression because it has been occurring every year since 1920. Forty-two years ago the average inhabitant made eight trips by rail; in 1920, when railway passenger business reached its peak, twelve; in 1931, only five. The average fare charged per mile amounted to 2.7 cents in 1920, and to 2.5 cents in 1931, and therefore the amount paid by the average person for railway passenger service amounted to $12.08 in 1920, and to $4.45 in 1931, a reduction of $7.63, or sixty-three per cent. Considered in the aggregate, this made a decrease of $738,000,000 in passenger revenues in 1931 as compared with 1920.

The question as to what the railroads should, or should not, to stop their losses of passenger business and, if possible, recover some of what has been lost, is one of the most interesting and difficult with which the managements are confronted. Numerous experiments have been made and some of them have been more or less successful—most of them failed.

BIGGEST FACTOR

There is no question existing in the minds of the passenger men that the private automobile is the biggest factor responsible for taking revenues from the railway lines. In this connection the following example is pointed out: The Key System in Oakland employs some hundreds of men in the car shops, and all of these are privileged to ride to and from their jobs without cost. Yet an investigation recently made revealed that only a few availed themselves of this privilege, the great majority preferring to use their own automobiles and pay for the gas and rubber. This seems to indicate that it is not entirely a matter of cost, says The Daily Commercial News, that the public has become so automobile-minded in favor of any type of railroad.

Experiments now being conducted in a small way in America, and to a greater extent in Europe, indicates the possibility that the roads may regain a fair share of the lost revenue by utilizing rubber on rails. Smaller and lighter cars, with self-contained power of the Diesel type, and provided with rubber tires and steel flanges, are being tried out. The operation is nearly noiseless, the speed is tremendous, and rare comfort is experienced by travelers who are shuttled between points of origin and destination in time as fast as that of the average airplane.

ADVANCE NEW THEORY

Frequency of operating schedules is advanced as another factor that may aid the railroads in securing increased passenger traffic. Recently engineers have advanced the theory that the new type of fast land travel will involve a combination of tube and open chute four-track arrangement, with two lower rails to carry the load of light enclosed and stream-lined cars, the upper rails to be guides and guards to insure the car remaining in position; the power to be electrical, transmitted by the rails, and the motors to be gcared to the wheels.

The engineers maintain that by cutting through mountains and remaining elevated in the open, together with almost total elimination of curvatures, such cars may be made to travel not less than 300 miles an hour. This would mean ten hours across the continent and with the greatest of safety. This may be the next development in passenger transportation.

SHIP SAILING SOUTH TONIGHT

Naval Chief Paying Inspection Visit to Coast—Aorangi in Friday

Sailing for California ports, the Ss. Dorothy Alexander will leave Rithet Piers at midnight today for San Francisco, her first port of call. The Dorothy will arrive from Seattle at 10 o'clock, and will embark a number of Island and Mainland passengers for the voyage South.

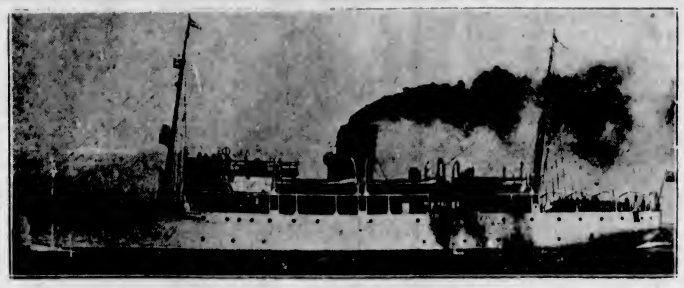

According to the latest advices received from the ship, it will be 7 o'clock Friday morning before the Canadian-Australasian motorship Aorangi reaches Rithet Piers. Word received from the ship yesterday stated she would arrive at William Head at 5 o'clock Friday.

On Saturday Commodore Walter Hose, C.B.E., R.C.N., chief of the Canadian Naval Staff, is expected at Esquimalt. He will arrive at the naval base aboard H.M.C.S. Skeena, which left during the holidays for Quatsino Sound, accompanied by H.M.C.S. Vancouver. Commodore Hose, who boarded H.M.C.S. Armistices at Prince Rupert, will transfer to the Skeena at the West Coast point.

For the purpose of measurement of shingles in cargoes, the Dominion customs has designated a new identification. In future, cargoes will be designated in "squares," with ten squares to the ton. Formerly the shingle cargoes were measured at forty bundles to the ton.

The term "thousand" in shingle carriage does not mean 1,000 shingles, but indicates there is an equivalent to 3,700 lineal inches. A "square" is equivalent to 2,960 lineal inches.

Survey Ship Commences Season

FOLLOWING cleaning and painting by Yarrows, Limited, the W. J. Stewart came into Victoria under her own power yesterday afternoon, and, today, will proceed to Union Bay to take on coal supplies. Returning here, the ship will embark the surveyors and helpers for the Housebcat Pender, an important unit of the survey, which has been laid up on the West Coast during the Winter months. She will then come back to Victoria for her own survey staff and assistants, when the Summer work with the ship will commence. The W. J. Stewart was built at Collingwood, Ont., especially for the hydrographic survey on this coast. She was delivered here last year, and is now in commission for her first round of service in British Columbia waters.

SCHEDULES TO BE DIFFERENT

Pacific Steamships Announce New Arrangements for Coast Services

With the sailing of the Ruth Alexander from Victoria on June 4, the Pacific Steamship Lines will inaugurate a Summer Coast schedule, in which the H. F. Alexander, the Emma Alexander and the Ruth will figure, according to W. M. Allan, local agent of the steamship company.

The Ruth Alexander and the Emma Alexander will take alternate sailings out of Victoria every Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. The ships will arrive from Seattle at 7 o'clock, while the H. F. Alexander will leave Victoria every Tuesday night at 10 o'clock, until further notice. She will dock from Seattle at 8 o'clock.

Heretofore passage on the H. F. Alexander, either south or north bound, has always been a little higher than on the other ships in the service; but during the current season the H. F. Alexander will carry passengers at the same price as the Ruth and the Emma.

ANOTHER ROUTE

The Dorothy Alexander, which has been in the Victoria-California service for some time, is to be placed on the Portland-San Francisco route, alternating with the Admiral Peoples.

On the voyage out of Victoria on May 27, the Emma Alexander will continue to Ensenada, inaugurating the Summer excursions to Mexico. Both the Emma Alexander and the Ruth Alexander will include the call at the Mexican resort on each voyage South during the season.

RECORDS BROKEN AT FRASER PORT

First Shipload of California Products Handled — Thirty-Seven Vessels Booked for April

NEW WESTMINSTER, April 18 (CP).—Bringing the first shipment of California fruits and vegetables to unload here, the East Asiatic Company's freight and passenger motorship Europa arrived in port today. She unloaded at the Pacific Coast Terminals, Ltd., dock 3,150 cases of oranges, 155 cases of lemons, two cars of celery, a car of cauliflower and a car of cabbage.

The liner brought also eight passengers, four of them from Kingston, Jamaica, one from England, and three from California. She was built in 1931 and has net tonnage of 6,430.

Before sailing, Wednesday, the Europa will pick up 750 tons of lead and about 800,000 feet of lumber.

LOADING LEAD

Ss. Parthenia, of the Donaldson Line, is loading 1,700 tons of lead for the United Kingdom and other cargo.

Ss. Cape York and Ss. Bencleuch are due Wednesday to load lead, lumber and general. The former will take 2,300 tons of lead and the latter 1,100 tons.

With heavy movements of cargo to and from the docks of the Pacific Coast Terminals Monday, practically all trackage was being used, 100 loaded freight cars awaiting transportation.

Port records have been shattered, with thirty-seven ships scheduled to dock this month and fifteen already booked for May.

The sweet young thing had broken her glasses. She took the remains back to the optometrist. "Will I have to be examined all over again?" she asked.

"No," he replied. "Just your eyes."

Ms. Chris Knudson will arrive on Wednesday to Canadian Transport Company with general cargo and sulphur from Gulf to Mexico ports. The ship will discharge sulphur here and at paper plants as far north as Port Alice. She will load outward for United Kingdom-Continent.

"What is a pilgrim?" asked the schoolmaster.

The boy looked puzzled, but answered: "A pilgrim is a man, sir."

"That is a very incomplete answer," protested the master. "I am a man, but would you call me a pilgrim?"

"Oh, no, sir!" said the confused little boy. "A pilgrim is a good man."

Decision of Cunard Awaited—Rate War Possible

LIVERPOOL, April 18 (AP).—Shipping circles foresee an Atlantic steamship rate war unless the Cunard Line is able to settle its differences with other companies over cabin class fares. Cunard officials have not announced the final decision on their policy, but it is known they consider the situation, which has existed for several years, to be most serious at present and that failure to find a solution within the scope of the North Atlantic conference agreement would mean a breakaway and a consequent rate war.

Just how the rate war would affect the bulk of Atlantic travelers is not clear yet. The trouble has arisen from the increased number of cabin class boats, such as the Manhattan, of the United States Line, and the Britannic, of the White Star Line.

The issue is whether first class fares on luxury liners should be lowered or cabin class fares should be raised.

FOUND WAY INTO FORT

Parties Unknown Entered "Impregnable" Fort and Took Car Parts

One of the "impregnable" fortresses of the world—Fort William, Calcutta, which cost £2,000,000 when it was built 180 years ago—has been the scene of a daring raid almost without parallel in India's history, according to advices reaching here from India lately. Into this fortress, complete with moat thirty feet deep and fifty feet broad, walls twelve feet thick and guarded by sentries, a number of persons, believed to be terrorists, have contrived to make their way without detection.

The culprits not only made their way in safely; they also escaped without arousing suspicion. The two thousand British troops quartered in the fortress (which is the headquarters of the military district), were completely unaware of the raid that was taking place, and the affair, which is causing much anxiety, especially in view of the unsettled conditions in Bengal, is now in the hands of the C.I.D.

Inside the fort armored cars have been kept. They belong to the motor section of a Calcutta volunteer battalion. The cars were required one morning as the mobile section was leaving for camp at Jafferport. It was discovered when all was ready that the cars had been rendered useless by the removal of their carburetors and magnetos.

LOOKED LIKE PRANK

At first it was believed some practical joker had been at work, but it has since been established that certain persons had discovered an underground tunnel leading into the "impregnable" fort. They had wriggled through the tunnel, emerging past the century ring. Then they camly removed the parts of the cars, and returned to the outside world by the way they had come.

The building as it is today, was begun by Clive. It is situated farther down the Hooghly River than the first fort. The capture of the first fort led to the imprisonment of 146 persons in a guardroom, from which only twenty-three were taken out alive the next morning. It has come down in history as "The Black Hole of Calcutta."

COPRA-LOADED SHIP ON FIRE

Steamer Benholm Asked For Assistance — Cruiser Proceeding to Position

GIBRALTAR, April 18 (AP). — British steamer Benholm asked today for immediate assistance. It reported a fire on the sheltered deck. The ship was racing here from Torrox, near Almeria, Spain. Salvage craft were rushing to assist the ship.

Some time after the request for assistance was received, it was reported the fire was lessening. The British cruiser Leander was proceeding to the position of the Benholm.

The steamer was bound from Suva, Fiji Islands, to London with a load of copra which was reported afire.

Planes Searching For British and Italian Aviators

CALCUTTA, April 18 (AP).—Four airplanes were sent from Dumdum airdrome in search of the missing Italian flyer, L. Robiano, unreported since Friday, when he started from here for Burma in an attempt to set a speed record for a flight from England to Australia.

A search also was being made in the Chittagong area, where a smashed plane, believed to be Robiano's, was found.

ALGIERS, April 18 (AP).—French military aviators were ordered from here today to search the desert for Captain William Lancaster, British pilot, who has been unreported since Wednesday night, when attempting an England-South Africa speed flight.

IN UNLAWFUL PREMISES

Margaret Perry pleaded guilty in the city police court yesterday morning to a charge of being the keeper of unlawful premises at 515 Johnson Street. She was fined $100. Fay King, "Bobby" Wilson, Lillian Turner and Rita Trevor, four girls charged with being inmates in the premises, were fined $25 each, and four Chinese and one white man, who were found in the place when the police entered, were each assessed a fine of $15 and $2.50 costs.

CLAIM TO HAVE LOCATED AKRON

Grappling Operations at Scene of Mishap Locates Sunken Object

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP).—The United States navy today received a message from Captain Herbert F. Leary, commander of the cruiser Portland, saying: "Believe Akron located."

The Akron, with seventy-six men aboard, including Rear - Admiral Moffett, chief of aeronautics of the navy, crashed into the sea two weeks ago today. Four men were rescued by the tanker Phoebus, but one died shortly afterward aboard the tanker. The three survivors included Lieut.-Commander Wiley, executive officer of the dirigible.

Subsequently, five bodies, including that of Rear-Admiral Moffett, have been recovered from the sea. Sixty-seven still are missing.

The message came shortly after noon, a little after reports from the naval tug Sagamore had reported that grappling operations at the scene of the airship's fall had located a large sunken object.

Meanwhile, a naval court of inquiry was proceeding here with its investigation into the Akron disaster.

Unemployed Nurse Is Serious Problem At the Present Time

Ways and Means of Meeting Emergency Discussed at Afternoon Session of B.C. Graduate Nurses' Association Here Yesterday

THE increasing problem of unemployment in the nursing profession and the question of ways and means of assisting McGill University School of Nursing to "carry on" at a time when, owing to curtailment of grants, its continuance becomes impossible without contributions from other sources, formed the subjects of animated discussion at the afternoon session of the British Columbia Graduate Nurses' Association yesterday. The meeting was held at the Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Home, where the twenty-first anniversary tea was subsequently held, the Victoria Graduate Nurses' Association, of which Miss Herbert is president, being the hostesses.

The question of the McGill University School of Nursing was introduced by the provincial registrar, Miss Randal, when she read a letter from Miss Harmer, director of the school, explaining the position in which they had been placed owing to the lack of funds, and making an appeal to the British Columbia nursing groups to assist in any way they could in view of the great contribution which the institution is making to the profession.

Several members eagerly supported the suggestion that the association should make some contribution immediately to meet the $8,000 which has to be raised by May to keep the school open, and a motion that a grant of $500 be made was adopted without dissenting vote. All speakers seemed agreed that the closing of McGill training school would be a grave loss to the profession.

BUDGET REPORT

During this discussion, Miss Breeze presented the report of the budget committee in order to indicate the financial condition of the association. This showed an estimated income for 1933-'34 of $7,120 and expenditure of $6,654, leaving a balance of $466. The budget committee had carefully scrutinized all avenues of possible reduction in drawing up this budget, and little improvement of the total could be looked for.

An animated round-table discussion on various matters relating to nursing, nearly all bearing on the question of unemployment among nurses, was conducted by Miss Fairley, of Vancouver. The first question drawn from the box was: "The public requires nurses, and the nurses require work; is there any practical solution to this dual problem?"

Miss Duffield, the first speaker, commented on the fact that the Graduate Nurses' Association of Vancouver had recently adopted an eight-hour day, at $3, for nurses, with the idea of meeting the mutual need. Sponsored by the British Columbia Graduate Nurses' Association, a scheme was already on foot by the Vancouver V.O.N. to give an hourly appointment service for the benefit of the patient who could not afford and did not need full-time care. This should eventually bring employment to a larger number of nurses also, although at the present time it would not help them to any great extent. The scheme could be tried out in any centre, Miss Duffield thought.

RURAL PROBLEM

Miss Kelley, public health nurse, noted that many homes in the rural districts were not ideal for the treatment of patients. Another speaker pointed out that rural nurses were limited in their activities to the rulings made by their local committees. Miss Randal, provincial registrar, thought it might be better to wait until the six months' experiment in Vancouver had passed before taking any action. Sister Mary Ludovic, Superior at St. Joseph's, asked if the question were being discussed from the viewpoint of advantage to the nurse or the patient.

Miss Fairley said that the hourly-appointment service in Vancouver was being sponsored by the association to meet the continual criticism of the public re the high cost of nursing. Other speakers suggested that it would perhaps be a good thing to educate the doctors as well as the nurses. The president commented that Vancouver doctors had already been circularized, and Miss Randal stressed the point that all women's organizations particularly should realize the great need of the community at the present time in this matter of cheaper nursing service.

DIET TRAYS

Miss Whitehead gave an able discussion of the management of diet trays from the ward nurses' viewpoint and with a view to the facilitation of ward management, maintaining that some responsible and trained person should have charge of this detail. Others taking part in this discussion were Miss Getty, Miss Mitchell (of the Jubilee Hospital), and the nursing superintendent of Nelson Hospital.

Also entering into the question of employment was the discussion on the merits or otherwise at the present time of instituting a system of smaller training-schools and the employment of more graduate nurses in hospit.'. One of the questioners suggested that if hospital boards would stand behind the move to employ only graduate nurses in hospitals it would do a great deal to solve the problem of the unemployed graduate. Miss Randal pointed out that in the 108 hospitals of the province there were already only twelve with training-schools, although when she began inspecting there were twenty-one training-schools. Miss Davidson noted that although there were more nurses than jobs, the training-schools were still turning out graduates. British Columbia schools this year would turn out about 150 more.

EVADE ISSUE

"We evade the issue when we do not discuss the question of the admission of so many students into the training-schools," the last speaker commented. Miss Randal noted that the problem was of comparatively recent date. Unemployment in nursing was due less to the depression than to surplus of nurses graduated. On the other hand until three years ago there had been a big drift of Canadian nurses to the States. Now many of these were coming back. One speaker suggested that the Old Country method of a weeding out process via periodical examination by a state board would help to solve the problem. Miss Fairley noted that the cutting down of the training-schools beyond a certain point would tend to eliminate some of the girls who in course of time would develop for the special positions which were so important in hospital administration.

This speaker also thought that nurses had maybe tended to overlook the needs of their own country by migrating in such numbers to the United States, where there were more Canadian nurses than there were in Canada, a statement borne out by one of the Sisters of St. Joseph's, who recalled that less than three years ago she had tried to get a British Columbia nurse for a position in Alaska, but was unable to secure one. Finally the need had been supplied by the small Alberta town of Innisfail.

Further discussion brought out that in Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals the training-schools had been reduced about 25 per cent with a corresponding increase of about 5 per cent in the number of graduate nurses employed; while in the Vancouver General Hospital the training-school had been decreased by 50 per cent since 1929, and a 100 per cent increase in the employment of graduate nurses.

MORE SINCERE

"The nurse who is taking up training today is more sincere. She is like everyone else; more earnest in her purpose," commented Miss Fairley, superintendent of the Vancouver General.

The meeting discussed the advantages or otherwise of setting a uniform provincial standard in examinations at fixed periods with the idea of eliminating students before they had completed their three years' training. This latter method did not seem fair to the nurse. Would it not be better to check up on her first year's work before allowing her to proceed?

The final question dealt with was the opening of opportunities for exchange of nurses on a greater scale than at present, in order to give graduates broad'r experience.

BIRTHDAY TEA

The Victoria Graduate Nurses' Association were hostesses at the tea served in the big recreation room, which had been charmingly decorated with daffodils and pear blossom. Presiding at the tea-table were Miss Meta Hodge, Mrs. Kirkness, Miss Franks and Miss E. Morrison.

The beautiful birthday cake, presented by the association, was lighted by twenty-one tiny candles, which were extinguished by the association president, Miss Mary Campbell, before she cut the cake for distribution among the guests.

St. Michael's Church Scene Of Ceremony

A pretty wedding took place at St. Michael's and All Saints' Church, Royal Oak on Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, when Rev. F. Comley united in matrimony Margaret Miriam, elder daughter of Captain T. O. Griffin and Mrs. Griffin, Elk Lake, and Mr. John Paxton Napier, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Napier, of Rockland Avenue, Victoria.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white-corded taffetta, simply fashioned with long skirt, and long-sleeved bodice, with which she wore the handsome antique Limerick lace veil worn by the groom's mother on her wedding day. This was arranged in cap-shape on her head and caught at the nape of her neck with a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies and white carnations.

TWO BRIDESMAIDS

There were two bridesmaids, Miss Kathleen Griffin, sister of the bride, who wore a frock of pink lace with mohair hat to match, and Miss Margaret Napier, sister of the groom, whose frock was of beige lace and hat to match. They each carried colonial bouquets. The groom was supported by Mr. Owen Goward.

Among the gifts, including those from the residents and from the French Creek public health nursing service, were a Pyrex casserole and silver stand from the nursing board of French Creek and district, and a ninety-six-piece dinner service from Coombs district.

The bride's jewelry included an enamel pendant, set with turquoise, and a diamond ring, the gifts of the groom. The bridesmaids wore crystal necklaces, which were also gifts of the groom.

RECEPTION AT KEATING

Following the ceremony at the church, a reception was held at "Merchiston Farm," Keating, the home of the groom, which for the occasion was artistically decorated with Spring flowers. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. G. P. Napier and Miss Kathleen Griffin.

Mr. and Mrs. Napier have left for a motor trip on the Mainland, and on their return will make their home at "Merchiston Farm." The bride is a graduate of the Jubilee Hospital.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Pethick, of Ladysmith, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom; Miss Ker, of Vancouver, and Mr. George Cathcart, of Alberni.

Restoration Fund Is Discussed on Island

SALTSPRING ISLAND, April 18.—Mrs. V. C. Best, as a member of the church committee, called a meeting recently at her home, "The Alders," Ganges, to discuss the raising of funds in aid of the restoration fund of the Church of England in Canada. Representatives were asked to attend from each Saltspring church organization. Mrs. H. Johnson was present for the W.A., Mrs. E. Walter for St. Paul's Guild and Mrs. Charlesworth for St. Mary's Guild, Fulford Harbor.

It was arranged to hold a parish silver tea in aid of the fund at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, pril 26, at Mrs. A. J. Eaton's Tea Rooms, Ganges. The hostesses will be Mrs. V. C. Best, Mrs. E. Walter and Mrs. Charlesworth. The tea committee is composed of Mrs. F. Stacey and Mrs. Johnson, while members of the A.Y.P.A. will assist in serving.

Ex-Mayor J. Walker Married to Actress

CANNES, France, April 18 (AP).—James J. Walker, former mayor of New York, and Betty Compton, British-born actress, were married today. The couple entered the city hall here by the back door to avoid any curious persons.

They were married by Doctor Gazagnaire, mayor of Cannes. Witnesses for Mr. Walker were his lawyer, Alfred Sharon, and his hotel proprietor, M. Martinez. Dr. Joseph Fisher, Walker's physician, was witness for Miss Compton.

The bride's mother, the Associated Press correspondent and one other were the only additional spectators at the ceremony.

Walker's dash through a cordon of photographers resulted in numerous broken flashlight bulbs.

Social and Personal Notes

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. J. Stevenson and Mrs. A. L. Stevenson were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Helen Stevenson, an April bride-elect, at her home on St. Andrew's Street. The many lovely gifts were presented to Miss Stevenson in a large Easter basket, seasonably decorated with shades of yellow, mauve and green. The prettily-appointed supper table was centred with a silver basket of daffodils, with streamers from the handle of the basket to the corners of the table. Small silver vases, holding daffodils, on each side and yellow tapers in silver holders at each end, completed the pretty setting. Mrs. W. E. McLagan and Miss M. Petticrew presided and Mrs. T. Burns, Miss Jean McNott, Miss Olive McLean and Miss B. Acreman assisted with the serving. Solos were sung by Miss Marion Mitchell and Miss Louise Noble. The guests included Mesdames A. Houston, N. Wheeling, A. McKay, C. Henderson, W. E. McLagan, T. Burns, E. Gatehouse, B. Acreman, C. McLean, R. Duncan, R. Harland, J. Stevenson, A. L. Stevenson, W. P. During the evening the latter presented the past-president badge to Richard Hall, former president of the branch. The toasts were as follows: "The King," "The Silent Toast," "Army," "Navy," "Legion," and "The Guests." Following the dinner, at which about forty guests were present, vocal solos were rendered by Captain M. F. Macintosh, Captain Anderson, R.N., Rev. Mr. Porter, and others. A. J. Eaton was pianist and accompanist.

Weddings

STAPLETON—TAYLOR

The marriage was solemnized, yesterday afternoon, at St. Michael's and All Saints', Royal Oak, Rev. F. Comley officiating, when Marion Catherine, youngest daughter of Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Metchosin, became the bride of Mr. Charles Stapleton, of New Westminster. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. R. D. Taylor, who also acted as best man, wore a lovely gown of ivory silk crepe, and carried a sheaf of Easter lilies and white heather. Miss Dorothy Taylor, sister of the bride, was the only attendant, wearing a lace frock in an orchid shade, and carried a bouquet of mauve, pink and white sweet peas. Mrs. A. G. Jackson played the wedding music. The church was beautifully decorated with Easter flowers and greenery. Following the ceremony the bridal party motored to Metchosin, where the reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Stapleton left on the midnight boat for their home in New Westminster, the bride traveling in a navy blue ensemble and accessories to match.

Miss Mabel Gray Heads B.C. Graduate Nurses

New Officers Chosen and Reports Concluded—Dr. Neil MacDougall Gives Address on Subject of Nursing and Training Schools

Miss Mabel Gray, assistant director of nursing at the University of British Columbia, was elected president of the British Columbia Graduate Nurses' Association last evening by acclamation at the final session of the annual meeting held at St. Joseph's Hospital Nurses' Home.

Other officers were elected as follows: First vice-president, Miss E. Breese (acclamation); second vice-president, Miss P. Fairley; secretary, Miss M. Kerr; registrar, Miss Helen Randal (acclamation); convener of nursing education, Miss Davidson (acclamation); convener of public health, Miss Duffield (acclamation); convener of private duty nursing, Miss M. Mirfield; councillors, Miss M. Campbell, Miss K. Sanderson, Miss L. McAllister and Miss M. Dutton.

DR. MacDOUGALL SPEAKS

Dr. Neil MacDougall, member of the "Provincial Joint Study Committee," of Vancouver, was the speaker of the evening and gave a most enlightening and entertaining talk on the subject of nursing in general, with references to the Weir report and to the joint study group, which has been of such concern to the members of both the medical and nursing professions. He emphasized the importance of education for prospective probationers in the hospital training schools, and laid stress on the need for a better grounding in mathematics. Too much care could not be taken in the choice of probationers and attention given to their physical well-being, absolute fitness being of special importance.

In speaking of the Weir report, Dr. MacDougall said: "At no time in its history has the work of the nursing profession been brought to the fore so vividly, so intelligently and so brightly as by the survey of the nursing profession by Dr. Weir." Questions of employment, specialized work, state medicine and training schools and their requirements were all touched upon briefly by the speaker. At the close of his address, Miss Meta Hodge accorded Dr. MacDougall a sincere and hearty vote of thanks.

STUDY GROUPS FORMED

Various reports were given, including the educational committee report by Miss Jean Davidson, in which she spoke of the study groups which had been formed and of the great interest shown by the hourly nursing committee, which is one of the new departures in nursing and which is being considered with a view to giving skilled nursing service to those patients not requiring a full-time nurse. The report of the private duty section was given by Miss Franks.

Miss Breese, on behalf of the visiting members, thanked the Victoria nursing groups and the Sisters of St. Ann for the welcome accorded them. Miss Herbert replying on behalf of Victoria. Miss Duffield was thanked as convener of the programme committee for her part in the arrangements for the meeting.

A beautiful boquet of flowers was presented to Miss Campbell, the retiring president, who in turn handed a new gavel with a silver inscription, to Miss Gray, this year's president.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Clubs and Societies

Metropoliton W.M.S.

A special Easter meeting of the Metropolitan W.M.S. was addressed by Rev. E. F. Church, on Monday afternoon, in the schoolroom. The speaker emphasized the thought that the future of the whole world rests with those who believe in God. Mrs. W. J. Pendray led in the opening prayer. Two pleasing solos were given by Mrs. Stanley Moore, accompanied by Mrs. Ronald Whittington. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. C. W. Plumb, who was the convener of the April groups. The strangers' secretary, Mrs. W. L. Smith, reported that eleven visits had been made at the hospitals, and fifty to the shut-ins and twelve to strangers. An interesting paper on Christian Stewardship was read by Mrs. F. T. Cliff. The meeting closed with the benediction, after which refreshments were served.

FIND OUT FOR YOURSELF

General Knowledge Papers, Etc., Etc.

By PROFESSOR LOMBARDI (TIM MATSON)

Prof. Lombardi

1. Are you "horsey?" Do you know all about fetlocks and withers and curtlecombs, and oats, and Mexican saddles and tamales? And what about "mare's nests?" The Professor has never seen one, and he's just dying to know what price you get for the eggs; and is the nest lined with horsefeathers; and do the little mares live on horse-radishes; and have they hoarse voices; and everything about them? Answer at full gallop, and sent results to Tom Mix or Admiral Horsey.

2. Put into French: "My mother (ma mere) is in (est dans) the wood (la boite)," and, into English: "Mon pere (my father) est dans (is in) la salle-a-manger (the dining-room)." Make no mistakes, and say which of them you think is having the most fun—Ma, cavorting beneath the greenwood tree—or Pa, stuffing down caviar and moselle? (Decide quickly).

3. On graph-paper, admit that you did not invent the telephone, wireless telegraphy, the steam engine, the adding-machine, the rotary press and the Spinning Jenny.

Then, on brown paper, admit that you might have invented, the poker, the ironing board, the drink of water, the dish towel, the walking stick, the piece of string, the piece of pie, the piece of cheese, and the piece de resistance. (Answer in any tongue but ox-tongue.)

4. Is it fair to tell anybody "to wait 'till the cows come home?" The average person hasn't the proper accommodation for a bunch of cows, and if the silly things did suddenly come home, there would be nowhere to put them, except in the spare room. Think how squashed they'd be—even if they were those tiny little cows that give the condensed milk! The idea is preposterous—isn't it? (Chorus. Yes, Professor—the idea certainly is preposterous! And so are you.) (Thanks).

5. Are you a botanist? If so, cross a "weeping willow" with a "bleeding heart" and see if it produces a "lonesome pine"; then plant some "deadly night shade" close to some electric light bulbs, and trust to the horse marines, that you get a new lamp for the sun-room. (Dig deep, and express answers in "square-root." Fern roots won't do at all.)

6. Draw photographs of Mary Pickford: (1) Surrounded by children, (2) Signing autographs for children, (3) Surrounded by children, (again); (4) Stooping in the midst of, and saying a lot of obviously silly things to groups of children, (5) And one more—just to rub it in—of Mary, surrounded by children. Don't forget Mary's curls—and then say how maddening it must be to have a husband who does as much leaping and grinning as Douglas Fairbanks. (Be cheeky.)

7. Is your wife a "real wife"? I.E., does she stand weeping in the middle of a cupboard containing seventy-four brand-new evening dresses, eight-four B.N. afternoon dresses, ninety-four B.N. house dresses, 104 B.N. sports outfits, 333 B.N. hats (silly-looking ones, or otherwise), 444 B.N. pairs of shoes—and announce bitterly: "I can't even walk up to the corner grocery! I haven't a single stitch to wear!" If you have no wife, you're lucky—because you can naturally omit this question. (Fooled you!)

SALTSPRING ENJOYS TROUBADOURS' SHOW

SALTSPRING ISLAND, April 18.—A well-filled hall greeted the Troubadours last Saturday evening, when, under the management of Ernest Franklin, they gave an excellent performance in the Mahon Hall, Ganges. The programme was varied and each item was splendidly received. The child impersonator, Miss Barbara Groves, was enthusiastically applauded. A dance followed, the Troubadours' orchestra, under the direction of Alfred Prescott, supplying the music.

Fairfield W.M.S. Enjoys Address By Mrs. McClung

The Easter thank offering meetnig of the Fairfield W.M.S. attracted a large gathering yesterday, when an interesting programme was arranged by the executive, Mrs. C. A. Fields, the president, in the chair. Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry led in prayer and Mrs. O. Piercy led the worship service. Miss Glendenning played the accompaniment for the hymns. The Mission Band girls recited verses illustrating "Keys That Open the Door of World Friendship." Two members of the choir, Mrs. Keating and Mrs. Warren, sang a delightful duet, "O Morning Land." Miss Keefe and Miss Hopkins arranged a play given by the C.G.I.T. The thank offering was taken and a gratifying amount, which exceeded that of last year, was received.

Mrs. Gerald Green introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Nellie McClung, who took as her subject "The Joy of Easter," and urged her listeners to "beware of monotony" and to "get behind their ministers and all those who were endeavoring to further the work of Christ's Kingdom." The Doxology and the Mizpah Benediction brought the meeting to a close, and a vote of appreciation to the guest speaker was voiced by Mrs. Alfred Dowell. Mrs. Keefe and the social committee served tea.

Mary: I didn't know Ted had any idea of marrying you
Ann: He didn't. It was my idea.

SAANICH LIBERALS

Members of Wards One and Two Liberal Associations in Saanich will hold a joint social evening in the Lake Hill Hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. An interesting programme has been arranged and refreshments will be served. Members of both organizations and their friends are urged to attend.

AMATEUR BASEBALL SEASON WILL OPEN MAY 13

Gomez Twirls Yanks To Close Win Over Connie Mack's Team

Star Left-Hander Beats Earnshaw in Pitching Duel for New York's Fifth Straight Win—Cubs Beat Pittsburgh Pirates

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP). — Vernon Gomez, left-handed ace of the New York Yankees, picked up his feud with the Athletics today just where he left off last season, besting big George Earnshaw 2 to 1 in a brilliant tussle that gave the Yanks a record of five straight victories so far in the youthful campaign.

But for a ringing double down the left field foul line by Jimmie Foxx, after a pass to Max Bishop and an error by Joie Sewell had put men on first and second in the sixth with two out, Gomez would have opened his personal 1933 campaign against the A's with a shutout.

New York	2	3	1

Batteries—Earnshaw and Majeski; Gomez and Dickey.

Red Sox Win

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP).—A large seventh inning and some of the breaks they missed earlier, today gave Boston a 6 to 4 win over Washington and the second Red Sox victory of the season.

The stretch frame opened with the Senators leading, 4 to 1., Then, with Boston two down, Whitehall, on the mound for Washington, threw wildly trying to catch Shea off second. Pirberg, who was on first, and Shea both advanced, and then, on Johnson's short single into left, scored.

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	6	10	1
Washington	4	9	1

Batteries — Andrews, Kline and Shea; Whitehall, Thomas and Sewell.

Browns Nose Out Indians

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 18 (AP).—George Blaeholder, in his starting game of the season, clouted in the run which gave the Browns a 1 to 0 edge over the Cleveland Indians here today.

It was a pitchers' duel between Blaeholder and Melvin Harder, who also pitched his season's opener. Harder purposely walked Ferrell in the fifth to get at Blaeholder, who promptly singled, scoring Burns.

Cleveland	0	5	2
St. Louis	1	6	1

Batteries—Harder and Spencer; Blaeholder and Ferrell.

Sox Whip Tigers

DETROIT, April 18 (AP).—Chicago's hard-hitting White Sox, twice tamed by Detroit Tigers, got their big guns out today, pounding the Tigers all over Navin Field and winning the final of the series, 12 to 0. In all, they laid in fifteen hits, one a home run by Kress.

Tommy Bridges, Detroit's starting pitcher, lasted only until the third inning, when six Chicago runs crossed the plate and ten men faced him. Elon Hogsett relieved him, and allowed three runs in the fourth before he settled down.

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	12	15	0
Detroit	0	7	5

Batteries — Jones and Grube; Bridges, Hogsett and Hayworth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, April 18 (AP). — A "second cousin" act by Tony Piet and Pie Traynor together with one blast from Gabby Hartnett's bat were all Lonnie Warneke needed today to hand the Cubs a 3 to 1 victory over Pittsburgh.

Steve Swetonic had outpitched Warncke up until the seventh inning when Piet, Traynor and Hartnett combined against him. With one out, Piet juggled Manager Charlie Grimm's grounder and he was safe. Traynor followed suit with a smash off Bill Jurges' bat, giving the Cubs two runners on base for the first time during the ball game. Hartnett then smashed a double off the left field wall to score the winning runs.

	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	1	7	2
Chicago	3	7	0

Batteries: Swetonic and Grace; Warneke and Hartnett.

Giants Take Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, April 18 (AP).—New York Giants barely lasted to beat out the Phillies 3 to 2 today for their first victory of the season. Their only previous appearance was in a tie game.

Brilliant fielding behind Fred Fitzsimmons, coupled with timely hitting and some fine relief pitching by Carl Hubbell in the ninth decided the game.

New York	3	9	0
Philadelphia	2	10	0

Batteries: Fitzsimmons, Luque, Hubbell and Mancuso; Rhem, Liska and V. Davis.

SIXTEEN TO GO TO POST IN HANDICAP

Historic Suburban Race to Be Run Today at Epsom —Dastur Is Favorite

EPSOM, England, April 18 (CP). —Sixteen horses are prepared to start tomorrow over the 1 1-4-mile course in search of the historic City and Suburban Handicap Plate of 2,000 sovereigns. It will be the seventy-eighth running of the popular handicap and included in the field will be Clogheen, five-year-old bay by Tetratema out of Laverock, who won last year's event.

Probable starters with their jockeys and weights are as follows: Dastur, Beary, 133; Totag, Carlskae, 122; Inglesant, Pat Beasley, 119; Great Scott, Collins, 116; Pommane, Perryman, 115; Colorado Kid, Gordon Richards, 112; Cloughleen, Graves, 110; Wild Son, Nicoll, 109; Epicure, Weston, 107; Barrage, W. Rickaby, 103; Sandfield, Smith, 103; Flange, Dines, 103; Leicester Lane, Evans, 102; The Cheerful Abbot, Clifford Richards, 99; Ben Soldat, carrying 92, has had no jockey named, while Galdennis will not likely start.

Dastur was the most favored in today's final betting, being quoted at 75 to 20. Odds on the others were: Colorado Kid, eleven to two; Pommane and Totaig, 100 to eight; Leicester Lane, Cheerful Abbot and Inglesant, 100 to six; Great Scott, Epicure and Wild Son, twenty to one; Sandfield and Barrage, twenty-five to one, and Flange and Nitsichin, thirty-three to one.

JOYOUS GREETING WINS METROPOLITAN HANDICAP BY NECK

EPSOM, England, April 18 (CP).—Mayor H. F. Lyons' nine-year-old Joyous Greeting today won the great Metropolitan Handicap Stakes. Joyous Greeting finished just a neck ahead of Mrs. G. N. Bennett's Notice Board, six-year-old bay gelding. Grey Wonder, G. F. Waller's three-year-old grey gelding, ran third, three lengths back.

It was the eighty-fourth annual running of the two-and-a-quarter-mile race and when Joyous Greeting thundered in ahead of the field of twelve the crowd went wild for the winner carried odds of twenty to one against. Place and show horses paid eight to one against.

COWICHAN GOLF

DUNCAN, April 18.—The Easter Monday par competition held at the Cowichan Golf Club resulted in a win for E. W. Carr-Hilton, 1 down. J. Longbourne was second, 5 down, and R. Ransome third, 6 down. Others competing were V. W. Tarleton, N. Suddaby, R. C. Mainguy, G. Andrewes and H. R. Punnett.

Progress was made over the week-end in the Bundock Cup competition, the annual club handicap. D. Crane beat R. Ransome, 2 and 3; D. Crane beat R. Harris, 2 up; W. B. Harper beat D. Crane, 2 up; T. H. Kingscote beat W. Cornwall, 5 and 4; V. W. Tarleton beat Phil Jaynes, 3 and 2; V. W. Tarleton beat N. Martin, 1 up; W. Prest beat G. G. Balas., 3 and 2.

Smith (to beauty parlor proprietress)—Has my wife been here?

Proprietress — What is she like, sir?

Smith—Well, I can tell you what she was like when she went in.

Boston Horse Show Called Off for Year

BOSTON, April 18 (AP).—The board of directors of the Boston Horse Show, Inc., today voted to cancel this years' show, set for October 31 to November 4. The Boston show annually attracted exhibitors from coast to coast and military teams from Canada, Ireland, England, Germany, France and Sweden, as well as the United States.

The directors stated that the show, which depends on the support of guarantors, would be revived when conditions improve.

Saanich XI Will Meet Spencer's In Cup Fixture

SAANICH United and Spencer's will clash in the only Wednesday Football League fixture this afternoon in the semi-final round of the Rennie & Taylor Knockout Cup series, at Heywood Avenue grounds, at 2:45 o'clock. Bill Rennie, donor of the coveted trophy, will officiate at the match by kicking off the ball for the opening. Ralph Alcock will handle the whistle, and a hard-fought match is expected. Saanich United will take the field with the following in uniform: Blanco, O'Connell, Stonier, Moir, Love, Williams, Price, Kennedy, Vickers, Shanks and White.

DOUBLE-HEADER TO FEATURE OPENING OF SENIOR LEAGUE

Slingers to Face Cameron's Lumber in Initial Game at 2:30 o'Clock, While Tillicums and Sons of Canada Will Follow—Two Seven-Inning Fixtures Scheduled

Victoria's four senior amateur ball clubs will start down the trail, which will lead to Pennantville some time late in August, on Saturday, May 13, when league officials will stage a doubleheader for the grand opening at the Royal Athletic Park, the first of which will start at 2:30 o'clock. Slingers and Cameron's Lumber will appear in the first half of the twin bill, while Tillicums and Sons of Canada, last year's champions, will take the field in the second fixture. In order to get the games over in good time, two seven-inning battles will be the rule of the day.

As usual, the league officials will have a trio of the city's prominent business men to perform the opening ceremonies. One will take his position on the mound to throw the first ball, another will don the catcher's paraphernalia and the third will attempt to lift the ball over the fence. Just who will do the performing will not be known for a few days.

RICHARDSON SIGNED

Plenty of new material will be making their first appearance in the league and their showing will be closely watched by the dyed-in-the-wool fans. Bill Richardson, first string twirler of the Arrows Transfer nine of the Vancouver Senior League last season, has put his name on the dotted line for Cameron's Lumber and is expected to be a great help to them in their quest for the flag. Richardson has been one of Vancouver's leading hurlers for several seasons and a few years ago was given a try-out with the New York Giants, but failed to make the grade, although he made a fine impression in the training camp before leaving.

The four teams are working out regularly and all are reported to be rounding in shape for the curtain-raising episode. Sons of Canada, who won the pennant a year ago, after one of the greatest uphill fights in local history, will have several of their old stand-bys back in harness. They have strengthened their mound staff by signing Tommy Musgrave, star pitcher of last year's Tillicums. Musgrave is still in his 'teens and will probably face his old teammates in the opener.

Charlie Fea will again pilot the Canadians and will have the following in uniform: Kim Campbell, Johnny Craig, Bert Saville, Cliff Hilton, Jack Bacon, Bill Holman, Herb Doherty George Gandy, Roy Haines, Jack Shakespeare, Lloyd Cann, Tommy Musgrave and Ray Parfitt. Cameron's Lumber will have a formidable squad going after the flag with Bill Richardson, Dan Lidstone, Bill Holness, Claude Belcher, Bobby Love, Red Bennison, Bill Bridgewood, Roy Robinson, Elmer Smith, Dave Essler and Manager Bert Fox. The lumbermen have their eyes on two or three more younger prospects.

YOUNG TEAM

Harry Downs, playing manager of the Tillicums, has lined up practically the same squad of youngsters he developed last year. They started poorly and finished strong and therefore should be heard from this year. Gordie Moore, Taylor, Ken Fleming, Wally Stipe, Alnie Worthington, Muss and Lynn Patrick, Doug McLaren, Jimmy Proudlove and Wes Stickney are members of the team. It is reported that the club has signed three or four more players, but Manager Downs will not release their names.

Ed Miles, who has taken over the reins of Slingers, dipped into the Twilight League for a complete infield to open the season when he was informed that the majority of last year's Elks would not be playing this season. Slingers took over the Elks' franchise and depended upon some of the antlered tribe to boost the team. With the majority of the Elks hanging up their shoes for good, Miles took over the entire infield of the Eagles, last years Twilight champions. Churck and Art Chapman, of basketball fame, will try their hand at the game this year and will try for places with the winery crew.

SLINGRS' LINE-UP

Some of Slingers' personnel follow: Restall, Barney Barnawell, "Scotty" Robinson, Constable, Porky Williams, Herb Cummins, Art Barry, Art and Chuck Chapman, Alex Thomas, Leo Holden, Haley Jackson, Art Carr, Ivings, Charlie Jordan and Albert Monteski. Holden was the league's leading chucker a year ago while Haley Jackson went through the Twilight League without a defeat.

Windsor Players Defeat Saint John In Decisive Style

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 18 (CP).—Supremacy in Dominion inter-scholastic basketball went to the Windsor-Walkerville Technical School tonight. The Ontario team defeated Saint John High School 34-23, taking the final round by a total score of 71-52. As in the first game, speed and accuracy was the deciding factor. Ability to capitalize on breaks, and recovery of rebounds, contributed greatly to Windsor-Walkerville's victory. Norman Nickerson, big Ontario forward, again led the scoring with four goals and two penalty points.

POPPY MAN AND POMPOLEON WIN

Kentucky Derby and Preakness Eligibles Victors in Important Races

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP). — The pre-race betting quotations on the Kentucky Derby and Preakness eligibles jumped a notch today, when Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Poppy Man and W. R. Coe's Pompoleon, making their initial starts of the season, romped home in front of their fields at Havre de Grace, Maryland.

Poppy Man, well regarded candidate for the $50,000 Blue Grass classic, scored his victory over a mile and seventy yards.

Five three-year-olds, all hopefuls for the Spring classics, with the exception of Crap Shooter, were opposed to Poppy Man, a son of the famous Chatterton.

Pompoleon also defeated a field of Derby and Preakness entries, coming from behind to finish a length in front of C. V. Whitney's Rapscallion, which is not expected to start at Churchill Downs, May 6.

At Lexington the Derby horses were not as fortunate, four of them trailing home the Rideview Stable's Ridgewise, a nonelligible, in the feature race run over the Futurity course.

At the finish the son of Wise Counsellor enjoyed a length advantage over Warren Wright's Warren Jr., the favorite. J. W. Parrish's Isiah was third in front of Thistle Play and My Blaze.

MRS. ALEX WATSON AND MRS. WILSON WIN PAR ROUNDS

Mrs. Alex Watson won the Class "A" monthly par competition played yesterday at the Victoria Golf Club, finishing three down. Mrs. J. H. Wilson took honors in Class "B," being two up.

J. E. WILSON ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY

Chosen Head of Victoria Golf Club at Annual Meeting

J. E. Wilson was elected president of the Victoria Golf Club, at the annual meeting held last night at the clubhouse. A large number of members were present and heard the various reports of the retiring officers and Secretary J. V. Perks. Mr. Wilson succeeds R. W. Gibson, who presided, to the highest office of the club.

The annual report and financial statement, which showed the club had enjoyed a successful year, were read. They were adopted as most satisfactory. The report showed that the club had a membership of 686, made up of 336 women, 326 men, and twenty-four juniors.

A vote of thanks was tendered retiring officers and members of the permanent staff of the club.

The complete list of officers follow: President, J. E. Wilson; captain, C. W. Pangman; committee, A. H. Ford, W. H. M. Haldane, A. V. Price, E. D. Todd, A. M. Watson, W. B. Wilson, J. H. Wilson, C. E. Wilson and Major Wise. Reginald Genn was appointed auditor.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

A Solomonic Judgment—Josef Ballo, a fifty-seven-year-old beggar of Debreczen, Hungary, lost a leg in a railroad accident. A suit for damages which he filed against the railroad was decided against him by the District Court of Debreczen in November, 1932, upon the amazing grounds that this accident made the mendicant an even worthier object of human charity. In other words, the court found that the victim ought to be commended upon his good luck rather than be awarded damages.

RIFLE SHOOTING TO OPEN SATURDAY AT HEALS

Local Marksmen to Use Bisley Bull's-Eye During Season

Change to Smaller Disk Made to Conform With B.C.R.A. Regulations at Island Body's Annual Meeting—New Officers Are Elected

Rifle shooting will officially open for Victoria marksmen next Saturday afternoon at the 200 and 500-yard ranges at Heal's range, and the Bisley target, with a five-inch bull will be used throughout the season, replacing the six-inch disk formerly used here. This was decided at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Military Rifle Association held at the Armories last night, when regulations for the forthcoming season were set out and officers of the association elected.

The change in the size of the bull's eye has been effected to conform with alterations made by the British Columbia Rifle Association which will use the smaller disk in its competition this year.

OFFICERS NAMED

Major Fred V. Richardson, one of the best known rifle shots of Victoria, was elected president of the association to succeed Captain O. J. Weller. Captain Burgess J. Gadsden was re-elected vice-president, and Bandsman Frank Drysdale, secretary-treasurer. Private Dave Fyvie was named assistant secretary.

The executive committee is composed of the following: Captain W. E. Tapley, 16th Scottish; Sergeant J. H. Regan, 16th Scottish; Lieut. G. A. Townsend, Garrison; Captain J. H. MacIntosh, 17th Fortress Company; S. G. Carr, 5th Regiment, and Gunner G. A. H. Baker, Navy. Following were named honorary patrons: Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor; Hon. R. R. Bruce, Hon. S. L. Howe and R. P. Butchart.

Reports received included presentation of the financial statement by Captain Dave Fyvie, which showed a bank balance for the year. Captain Weller reviewed the association's activities briefly.

FEES SET

Fees were set at the same figures as last year, one dollar for affiliation of units, and twenty-five cents for individual members.

Another change was made in regulations governing practice shots. In the future it will be compulsory to fire two practice shots at the first range and one at each succeeding range, while one practice will be allowed at all ranges in league matches.

Shooting on Wednesday afternoons will open on the first Wednesday in May, it was decided, as customary in former years.

NAME HEAD OF BISLEY TEAM

Lieut.-Col. R. B. Simmonds Appointed Commander of Canadian Rifle Squad

OTTAWA, April 18 (CP).—Canadian Bisley team this year will be commanded by Lieut.-Colonel R. B. Simmonds, V.D., of Halifax. Announcement was made of the appointment by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association today. The appointment was concurred in by the Minister of National Defence.

The Canadian rifle team to take part in the competition of the National Rifle Association at Bisley is to consist of fourteen shooting members, in addition to the commanding officer. The team will sail from Montreal on June 16 and will return to Canada about August 8. Members of the team are now being selected and announcement of the complete organization will be made early in May.

WALTER LORIMER GIVEN OFFICE

Local Man Elected Vice-President of British Columbia Baseball Body

VANCOUVER, April 18. — Cy H. McLean, of Vancouver, was elected president of the British Columbia Amateur Baseball Association at a meeting in Vancouver. Ray Sargent, North Vancouver, was appointed to the first vice-president's post, with Walter Lorimer, Victoria, second vice-president, and Stanley V. Smith, of Vancouver, secretary-treasurer. F. Ramsdale, H. W. Colgan, J. A. Courtney, Bruce Fisher, Sax Gressley, W. McMahan, Joe Morgan, Cy McLean and Stan Smith were named on the committee to handle play-offs.

North Vancouver's application for a Senior A rating was approved and the North Shore will figure in the top division when the play-offs are staged.

Considerable time and much heavy thinking was devoted to revision of the constitution, one of the chief items being the ruling which stipulates that a player is the property of the club for which he has signed until a release is given him by that club.

FIVE TIED FOR TOP IN BIKE GRIND

Parrott and Rush Up With Leaders — Peden and Gadou Well Up

FORUM, MONTREAL, April 19 (CP).—Gaining five laps in a brief but furiously-fought jam that broke out late last night, Saveer Van Slambrouck and Freddie Ottevaire, sturdy young Belgians, fought their way to a deadlock on top of the six-day bicycle race here as the third day opened this morning.

Climbing with the Belgians, but having less ground to cover, Reboli and Saetta, the Italian duo, also reached top place, with the result that at 1 a.m. no less than five teams all shared the leadership, each having covered 815.7 miles since 12:01, Monday morning.

The other teams sharing the five-way bracket were the leaders of the early evening, "Polly" Parrott and Lew Rush, Victoria; Al Crossley and Bartell, United States pair, and the red devils, Letourner and Debaets. Parrott and Rush still topped the field because of most points captured in sprints.

Harry Horan, United States, and Lew Elder, Toronto, were so far in arrears at midnight that they were forced out of the race, the rules calling for the dropping of one team at that hour each night.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE SOFTBALL SQUAD DROPS TWO GAMES

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, April 18.—Shawnigan softball season got away to a poor start today, when last year's Island champions lost two exhibition games to the Duncan Maple Leafs, 13 to 3, and, 6 to 4. Errors and ragged play were mainly responsible for the downfall of the locals, who, with the addition of a few new players, were far below their championship form of last year.

The committee report arrangements well in hand for the card party to be held on April 28.

Dates for Hoop Finals Will Be Released Today

VANCOUVER, April 18 (CP).—Definite dates for the Dominion basketball finals between Victoria Blue Ribbons and the Eastern Canada champions had not been set tonight. The original dates called for games starting in Victoria Wednesday, April 26, but, as the Eastern champions will not be decided until Saturday night, this date will have to be set back. It is possible that the series will get under way by April 28, but it may be set for later than that, possibly as late as May 1. Announcements of dates may be made tomorrow.

JUNIOR MEET SET SATURDAY

Annual Tourney to Be Staged at Uplands Golf Club—Harold Pretty to Defend

Budding champions of the future will assemble at the Uplands Golf Club Saturday morning to tee off in the first eighteen holes of medal play in the annual junior championship. The entry list will close with Secretary John Caven tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and a large field is expected to seek the honors at present held by Harold Pretty. Following the closing of the list the draw and starting times will be released.

The tournament will be played on two Saturdays and the competitor with the lowest gross score for the thirty-six holes will take possession of the trophy for the next twelve months. Harold Pretty is eligible to compete again this year and will be on deck in defence of his crown. He will go to te post one of the favorites to come through.

First five leaders will be eligible to compete in the senior club championship at the end of the month. Many of the junior members have been showing great promise in the club events and some fine scoring is expected during this tourney. No entry fee will be charged and the women's committee will look after the scoring during both rounds.

NOTED CALGARY SPORTSMAN DIES

Jimmy McEwan Passes Away From Heart Attack While Watching Boxing Show

CALGARY, April 18 (CP).—James (Jimmy) McEwan, noted Calgary sportsman, died suddenly from a heart attack while watching the Alberta amateur boxing contests here. He was seventy-four years of age.

Born in Rutherglen, Glasgow, Scotland, McEwan in his youth won many honors in the Old Country as a professional walker and runner. Coming to Calgary in 1900, he was instrumental in forming the Calgary Callies soccer team which captured the Dominion crown in 1906 and 1907.

McEwan was the trainer of Tommy Burns, Canadian fighter who resided in Calgary while climbing to the top of the heavyweight heap, which he attained when he won the crown from Marvin Hart in 1906.

SPOKANE, April 18 (AP).—Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former world's heavyweight champion, defeated Bob Kruse, of Portland, in the main event of a wrestling exhibition here tonight. Lewis won the second and last fall with a body slam early in the third round. Kruse was still out when the gong sounded for the fourth round. The Portlander won the first fall in the second round following a series of flying shoulder butts. Lewis weighed 245 and Kruse 210.

NOTRE DAME ENTERS HOOP SEMI-FINALS

Montreal to Meet Windsor-Walkerville for Eastern Championship

MONTREAL, April 18 (CP).—Notre Dame de Grace Community Association, of Montreal, moved on to the Eastern Canada senior basketball finals by defeating Mount Allison University, of Sackville, N.B., 30 to 23 here tonight, taking the two-game round 83 to 50.

Already Quebec-Ottawa Valley champions, the Montrealers will now meet Windsor - Walkerville Alumni, in Windsor on Saturday and Monday, and, if necessary, on Tuesday, with the winners travelling to the West Coast to engage Victoria Blue Ribbons, in Victoria, for the Dominion honors.

Notre Dame de Grace again demonstrated their superiority over the Maritime titleholders, although they did not run up such a large score last night as in the first game.

M.C.C. UNABLE TO MEET LOCALS

Wire From Touring Cricketers Received by Local Association—Sponsor Juniors

A wire, indicating that the touring M.C.C. cricket team would not be able to play here on account of the early arrival of R.M.S. Aorangi, was read at a meeting of the Victoria Cricket Association, held last night in the Y.M.C.A.

It was also decided that a representative Wednesday League team would play an exhibition match with the pick of the Saturday League on May 24, in connection with the holiday sports. The meeting also went on record as stating that the association would sponsor junior cricket this season. Another cricket dance will be held on May 4 in the Empress Hotel.

Royal Oak Will Play at Nanaimo In Cup Football

Oaklands and Esquimalt will meet in the only Junior League soccer game billed for Saturday. The teams will battle at Spencer's Park at 3 p.m. On Sunday Royal Oak will travel to Nanaimo to meet Park Rangers in the semi-final of the Provincial Cup series.

SOFTBALL MEETING

A meeting of the Junior Softball League will be held at the Y.M.C.A. next Monday at 8 p.m. instead of Friday. Teams are asked to have delegates present. Entries will close on April 24.

Share Prices at New York Move Higher Smartly

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP). — The inflation bee buzzed about financial markets today, getting a particularly warm reception from commodities and a generous welcome from stocks.

Shares made a rather hesitant start, but plucked up courage in the last hour when staple markets gathered strength.

Gains of a cent and a half to two cents net in wheat, new highs for sugar and an upward push by rubber, cotton and silver futures plainly reflected the expectation that fire burned beneath the smolder of inflation gossip on Capitol Hill. Net gains of fractions to more than 2 points were general, though prices mostly finished under their highs. Sales totaled 1,434,940 shares.

Silver, steel, sugar, farm implement, copper and food issues went ahead smartly on the buying flurry. Net gains for most rails were fractional.

Though trade news was meagre, the tenor of statements made to stockholders at a number of annual meetings was cheerful.

Some observers are pointing out movement of goods into consumption may well be stimulated by anticipation of higher prices and such purchases should stimulate operating schedules in many industries. In the past couple of weeks the business pendulum has been swinging higher, in some cases more than seasonally.

News that $7,000,000 in gold was going to France found the dollar heavy. This movement of metal, however, was accepted as further evidence the Treasury was prepared to support dollar exchange. With dealings tightly restricted, the market is extremely thin and wide fluctuations appear inevitable.

Hopes and fears were about evenly divided in the bond market today and prices generally failed to exhibit any definite plan. Sales totaled $9,513,000 par value. The prospect of inflation held the attention of some traders and investors, but high-grade maturities, as a whole, displayed little concern over talk of dollar depreciation or undue broadening of credit. United States Government securities were moderately easier, but they apparently were not under any great pressure.

The foreign list was erratic. German Government issues rallied around a point, but other Reich loans were irregular. Argentines, Austrians and Australians were 1 to 2 points higher. Japanese bonds were rather heavy and Canadian Government 4's lost 1 1-4 points.

GOLD ISSUES SOAR AGAIN

Leading Precious Metals Stocks at Vancouver Move Up Briskly

VANCOUVER, April 18 (CP). - Gold stocks had a field day on the stock exchange here following the Easter Monday holiday with orders piling up, with a total of 200,000 shares changing hands today.

Bralorne, with sales of 3,300 shares, scored a net gain of 40 cents at [illegible] after touching $3.75 in the early trading. Pioneer, on a trade of 1,000 shares, sold up to $7.60, closing 30 cents stronger at the high of the day. Cariboo Gold, another issue in demand, touched $2.45, and closed at $2.25 for a net gain of 5 cents over Saturday's final figures. Bridge River, traded in more than 100,000 shares, closed at 13 1-2, up 3 1-2 cents. Reno Gold scored an advance of 4 cents at 97, the high of the day.

A moderate demand came out for the base metal issues with the price range moderately upward.

In the oils Royalite was 10 cents firmer at $6.40, Home 2 cents lower and Mayland up 2 cents.

Base Metal Groups Impart Strength to Eastern Exchanges

MONTREAL, April 18 (CP).—Base metal groups led the Montreal Stock Exchange list to higher ground today, but were unable to overcome early losses. The market finished the day slightly lower.

Consolidated Smelters was the strong performer of the metals, establishing a new high for the year at 73 1-4, where it closed with a gain of 1 3-4 points. International Nickel wiped out an early loss, but dropped lower after equaling its high for the year. Opening at 11.60 it rose to 12.00, and in the last few minutes slipped back to 11.90, down 5 cents from Saturday's close. Hollinger held steady at 8.25.

Nickel contributed approximately 5,600 shares of the total turnover of 11,500. Smelters was fairly active. Brazilian Traction at 8 1-4 and Canadian Pacific Railway at 10 1-4 both held unchanged.

Bank issues were weak. Montreal dipped a point to a new low at 157, and Royal touched a new low at 124 1-2, down 1-2. Fractional advances were scored by B.C. Power and Canada Cement.

Sales totaled 11,566 shares, bonds $42,700.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

TORONTO, April 18 (CP).—Strong oil and base metal markets piloted Toronto Stock Exchange listings to a firm close today. The list broadened out in the afternoon when Wall Street rallied, trailing the base metals which gained support from talk of inflation and the effort to boost commodity prices.

Nickel and Smelters started the day with a show of weakness. Nickel falling back to 11.40 and Smelters to 70. Recovery was gradual and steady, attended by increased volume, Nickel closing at 12 for a gain of 10 cents and Smelters at 73, up 1 1-8. Brazilian and C.P.R. finished unchanged and Ford "A" up 1-8 at 6 1-4.

Imperial Oil featured the oil group with a turnover of 4,300 shares and a price advance of 9 1-8, the close at 9 was up 1-2 for the day. International Pete dropped 3-8 to 12 3-4.

Consumers Gas, down 2 points, was the only definitely weak issue of the utility group. Beverages were unchanged except for a gain of a point for Brewery Corporation preferred and a small fraction for Walker's preferred.

Banking shares were steady and steels generally unchanged. Maple Leaf Milling preferred was down a point and Crow's Nest, 2.

TORONTO MINING MARKET

TORONTO, April 18 (CP).—While volume was not large, both gold and base metal shares worked into higher ground on the Standard Mining Market today. Traders kept a close eye on the various inflationary moves at Washington from which the metals, including silver, drew support. Prospect of a revaluation of gold helped stocks of that section also but gains were not large except in Lake Shore and Bralorne.

The recently listed British Columbia issue, Bralorne, continued its upward trend, spurting today to 3.74 for a gain of 44 cents on heavy trading. Lakeshore gained $1 to 35.50, Dome 20 to 17.95, McIntyre 15 to 25.40, Pioneer 25 to 7.50 and Wright-Hargreaves 3 to 4.68, while Teck-Hughes weakened 10 to 4.30.

Early in the day Nickel fell back to 11.40 but slowly recovered and the close at 12.00 was up 5 cents. Noranda improved 55 to 24.30 under good buying. Other base metals moved within a narrow range, the majority closing with small advances. Falconbridge was up 2 at the close, Sherritt 1 1-2, Smelters 25 cents, Pend Oreille 4, and Hudson Bay 10.

Buying was heavier in the penny group and advances of a half point or more came out.

WHEAT PRICES GAIN SLIGHTLY

Early Losses at Winnipeg Wiped Out in Last-Hour Rally

WINNIPEG, April 18 (CP). — A spirited closing rally that within a few minutes lifted wheat future prices almost a cent in a bounding uprush and left values half a cent higher than the previous close, featured today's session of the Winnipeg Grain Market.

After trading for most of the session at levels half a cent lower, values finished 1-2 to 3-8 cents up, May futures at 53 1-8, July 54 3-8 and October 56 1-4 cents.

Selling pressure from outside interests sent local prices downward from the opening. Upturns at Chicago aided only in preventing still greater declines, with traders paying more attention to stagnation of Canadian export trade than to developments to the Southern market.

Foreign news, aside from reporting lower markets at Liverpool, was negligible today.

Cash and coarse grains again were dull.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SHORT SIGHT AND ASTIGMATISM

You hear about people being short sighted, long sighted, or having astigmatism, and may wonder just what these terms mean.

The lens of your eye is like the lens of a camera, and reflects any image on the lining coat of the eye, which is made up of sensitive nerve endings, which carry the image along the optic nerve to the brain.

If your eyeball is short, the image strikes the nerve endings too soon and the object is blurred. This is called "long" sight.

If your eyeball is long the image is formed before it really reaches the nerve endings, and you see imperfectly. This is "short" sight. By bringing an object closer to the eyes the short-sighted person has the image strike the nerve endings farther back in the eye, that is, at the right or exact spot to give perfect vision.

What is astigmatism?

The word means that there is not the single point at which the image is reflected on the nerve endings, but the rays come in unevenly. This is why the person with astigmatism sees little lines about the margins of the letters of the words he is reading.

This is caused by the fact that the outer glass-like covering of the eye, which fits over it like a watch glass, is not absolutely true or perfect, just as your watch glass may have some parts more curved than others. Naturally the rays of light coming in where some parts are more curved than others do not come in evenly and focus at the one or central point.

Having astigmatism doesn't mean that you have weak eyes, but it does mean that you should have glasses that will make up for these little differences in the curvature of the lens if you are to have good vision and be free from the headaches or tiredness of the eyes which is so often due to astigmatism.

Your eyes are worth much to you at any age in life, and if you want to have them give you good service and be free from strain, you can't afford to have shortsightedness or astigmatism go uncorrected.

See an oculist who is a medical eye specialist, or an optometrist who is trained in the measuring of the eye defects.

"HALCYON DAYS"

"For almost two weeks now, such Halcyon days; it doesn't seem possible that it can continue."

A friend of mine wrote that from a semi-tropical resort where she was vacationing. The expression, "halcyon days" for days of peace and calm, the reference being usually to beautiful weather, is familiar Aeolus guards the winds, and keeps story.

Of Grecian derivation, "halcyon" is the name of a bird, identified with the kingfisher, who, according to the legend, nested on the sea at the time of the Winter solstice and calmed the waves.

Behind this is the mythological story of Halcyon, the daughter of Aeolus, who, in grief for her drowned husband, Ceyx, threw herself into the sea. The gods changed them both into kingfishers, since when "they mate and have their young ones. For seven placid days, in Wintertime, Halcyon broods over her nest, which floats upon the sea. Then the way is safe to seamen. For to all of us. Not so, however, its them from disturbing the deep."

2 DEATHS

TRURAN—On April 17, 1933, at 1786 Denman Street, Victoria, Richard Thomas Oliver Truran, aged fifty-eight years, born in Victoria, B.C. He is survived by his widow; a son, Clive; a daughter, Ida; a brother, John, at Fairbanks, and a sister, Mrs. William Lindsay, in Vancouver. A niece and nephew also survive. The remains rest at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, where the funeral service will be held at 2 o'clock on Thursday, April 20. Interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

SAXTON—On April 17, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, the death occurred of Mrs. Zela May Saxton, aged thirty-one years; born in Oregon, U.S.A., and a resident of this city for the past nine years; late residence, 499 Head Street. She is survived by, besides her husband, Mr. William L. Saxton, three sons and one daughter at home; her mother, Mrs. Maude Philips, of Forest Grove, B.C., and two brothers and six sisters. The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary Chapel, 1603 Quadra Street, from where the funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, and the remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

REID—The death occurred on April 16, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, of John Reid, aged fifty-seven years, born in England and a resident of this city for the past twenty-two years; late residence, 769 Hill Street. Deceased is survived by, besides his widow, Mrs. Florence Reid, two daughters, Mrs. E. Lohbrunner, of Union Avenue, Lake Hill, and Miss Vera P. Reid, at home, and one son, Gordon E. Reid, at home. There also survive two sisters, Mrs. H. Steverston, Bushby Street, and Mrs. A. Illingworth, Crease Avenue. The funeral will take place on Wednesday, April 19, at 3 o'clock, from the Sands Mortuary Chapel, the Rev. Canon H. W. G. Stocken officiating. Interment will be made at Royal Oak Burial Park.

DAWES—At the Royal Jubilee Hospital, on Monday, April 17, William Cook Dawes, aged sixty-four years. He was born in Leicester, England, and had been a resident of this city for the last five years, and prior to his coming had been a resident of Calgary, Alberta, for many years. He is mourned by his widow, at the family residence, 1656 Brighton Avenue; four daughters, Mrs. Charles Moody and Mrs. R. Dobson, of Calgary, Alberta; Mrs. C. A. Fidler, in Brooklyn, New York, and Miss Kathleen, at home, and one son, Henry Westcott Dawes, in Winnipeg, Manitoba; also a sister, in England. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon, from McCall Brothers' Funeral Home, at 3 o'clock. Rev. James Hood will conduct the service, after which interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery. (No flowers, by special request.)

4 CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. C. James and family wish to express their appreciation for the many kind expressions of sympathy and floral offerings during their recent sad bereavement.

5 IN MEMORIAM

FEA—In loving memory of Jean, beloved wife of John L. Fea.
—Inserted by husband and children.

THOMSON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mary Thomson, Obed Avenue, Victoria, B.C., died April 18, 1932.

Today recalls to memory,
A loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of her today
Are those who loved her best.

The flowers we lay upon her grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who lies beneath,
Will never fade away.

Gone from us, but not forgotten,
Never shall the memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts shall always linger
Around the grave where thou art laid.

—Always loved and remembered by the family.

Money Markets

LONDON, April 18 (AP).—Money, 3-8 per cent.

Discount rates: Short bills, 1-2 to 9-16 per cent; three-month bills, 9-16 to 5-8 per cent.

CANADIAN DOLLAR AND POUND RATES

MONTREAL, April 18 (CP).—British currencies strong foreign exchanges lower. The pound sterling gained 2 1-2 cents at $4.17 3-8. United States funds lost 1-2 of 1 per cent at 18 3-4 per cent premium. The French franc advanced .03 of 1 cent at 4.74 cents.

AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 18 (CP).—Proposed inflationary legislation for the United States was given as the chief reason for the pound sterling's spectacular rise on the New York Foreign Exchange market today. The pound rose to $3.53 for cables during the session, and closed at $3.51 1-2, 5 3-4 cents higher than yesterday's close.

The Canadian dollar, in sympathy, was 5-8 of a cent stronger at 84 3-4 cents, representing a premium of 18 1-2 per cent on United States funds as against the Dominion's money.

Sterling moved widely after the London Exchange was closed, its low for the day being $3.46 1-2, quoted in morning trading. Bankers here attributed the pound's wide gyrations partly to heavy speculation, together with the small margin of defeat which silver legislation met in the United States Senate Monday.

Both the pound and the Canadian dollar kept well above yesterday's closing quotations throughout the day.

REPORT SHOWS PROFIT

VANCOUVER, April 18 (CP).—Net profit of $86,853 is shown in the annual report of Brewers & Distillers, of Vancouver, Limited, for 1932, compared with a net loss of $69,059 the previous year. The year's actual profit was not as great in 1932, but expenses were considerably smaller compared with 1931, leaving a larger net total.

Current assets were shown at $4,049,956, against current liabilities of $287,337, leaving a working capital of $3,762,619.

Toronto Produce

TORONTO, April 18 (CP).—The following quotations on produce, delivered at Toronto, were supplied by the United Farmers' Co-operative Company today:

Eggs—Extras, 13 cents; firsts, 11 cents; seconds (cracked), 9 cents.

Butter—No. 1 solids, per pound, 26 1-2 cents.

Potatoes—Per bag, 70 cents.

ASSOCIATED BREWERIES

TORONTO, April 18 (CP).—Associated Breweries of Canada, Ltd., reports net profits for the year ended December 31, 1932, of $230,843 against net of $348,627 in the previous year.

Dividends of 60 cents were maintained throughout the year on common stocks, says the report, which announces purchase of an interest in two brewery plants at Great Falls, Montana. The company also has invested in Breweries at Missoula, Montana, and one under construction at Vancouver.

Little Bedtime Stories

Danny Meadow Mouse Saves Peter

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

"What's the black speck up there in the sky?"

Peter Rabbit couldn't get quite so enthusiastic over the snow as did Danny Meadow Mouse. He likes the snow when there isn't too much of it, but, on the whole, he could get along better without it than with it. He said as much to Danny.

"You see," explained Peter, "I'm not so lucky as my cousin, Jumper the Hare. If I had a pure white coat like his I would like the snow better than I do. When he has that coat snow just helps him to remain unseen, but it does just the other thing to me. I never do feel at all sure of not being seen unless I am in a hole or a hollow log or under a hemlock bough or sitting right smack up against the trunk of a tree. It makes me dreadfully nervous to be out in the open the way I am now. You see, I haven't any nice little tunnels to dive down to and be out of sight. Against all this whiteness my brown coat shows up so that I'm never really easy in my mind when I'm outside the dear old Briar Patch. I'm not easy now."

"Oh, there's nothing to worry about here," replied Danny carelessly. "If a little fellow like me doesn't worry I don't see why a fellow so many times bigger should worry."

"I'm not worrying," replied Peter somewhat indignantly. "I said I was a little uneasy, that's all. Some of you very small folks don't know when you are well off. You can always find a hiding-place. I think I would just about as soon be very small as very big. It's fellows like me, neither big nor very small, who have the really hard time. What's that black speck up there in the sky? Is it Roughleg the Hawk?"

"Looks like him," replied Danny, sitting up straight that he might see better. "Yes, that's who it is. He seems to be coming this way. What's your hurry, Peter?"

"Just a feeling that I would like to keep a whole skin and live a little longer, that's all, Danny," cried Peter over his shoulder as he headed for the dear Old Brier Patch, lipperty-lipperty-lip, as fast as he could go.

As Danny Meadow Mouse watched that brown form bobbing along over the snow toward the dear Old Brier Patch he realized how Peter's brown coat did show up, and he quite understood Peter's uneasiness. He looked toward Roughleg the Hawk. He was no longer a black speck in the sky; he was a big, black bird growing bigger every instant. He was heading right straight for where Danny was sitting on the snow. He might be after him or he might be intending to keep on after Peter Rabbit.

Danny decided that the place for him was down out of sight. Right at his feet was a little round doorway. All he had to do was to dive down through this to a tunnel at the bottom and be absolutely safe. He started to do this, then stopped for one more look at Peter Rabbit. Peter still had some distance to go to reach the dear Old Brier Patch and safety. At the rate he was coming Roughleg would reach Peter before Peter could reach the dear Old Brier Patch. Anyway, that is the way it looked to Danny. An idea popped into Danny's head. If Roughleg should try to catch him it might give Peter time enough to reach the Brier Patch. Perhaps Roughleg wouldn't try to catch him because he was so much smaller than Peter. Danny ran a few steps, then back to attract the attention of Roughleg.

Now Roughleg had fully made up his mind to dine on Rabbit if it were possible, but he was not at all sure that it was possible. It looked to him as if Peter might reach the Brier Patch in time. If he couldn't have Rabbit, why Mouse would do. Perhaps he could have both. He hesitated just a bit, then suddenly shot down to grasp Danny. But all he got was his claws full of snow. At the very last second Danny had dived down that little doorway which Roughleg hadn't seen.

Up and on Roughleg winged his way, but that little pause had saved Peter Rabbit's life. Poking his head out of another little doorway Danny saw Peter dart into the dear Old Brier Patch and heard Roughleg's scream of disappointment.

"I guess I did Peter a good turn that time," chuckled Danny.

Montreal Produce

MONTREAL, April 18 (CP).—Lack of demand and continued heaviness in receipts caused butter to drop 1 cent on the Montreal dairy and produce market today. No. 1, regraded butter sold for 27 cents a pound for car lots or less, and buyers were underbidding the market at the close.

A steadier tone prevailed on the egg market. Car lots or less were 16 1-2 to 17 cents a dozen for extras, 14 1-2 to 15 cents for firsts and 13 cents for seconds. A few sales have been made this week at 16 cents for extras and 24 cents for firsts, but nothing further along this line has been reported.

Cheese eased half a cent at 10 to 10 1-2 cents a pound for current Ontario colored.

COLONEL IS BELLIGERENT

WARSAW, Poland, April 18 (AP).—Colonel Ignacy Matuszewski, writing in the Gazeta Polska, organ of the Government, on treaty revision, said today that "whoever has the idea of conferring on the revision question, regardless of who it is, should be answered with cannon fire."

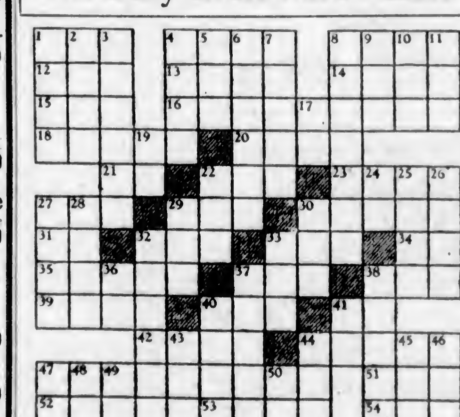

Jones: "How do you spend your income?"

Smith: "About 30 per cent for shelter, 30 per cent for clothing, 40 per cent for food and 20 per cent for amusements."

Jones: "But that adds up to 120 per cent."

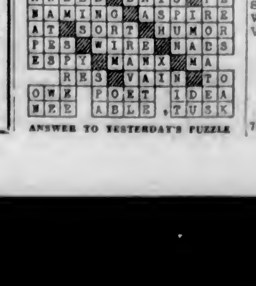

Smith: "Don't I know it!"

"FRISCO JENNY" HAS FINE CAST

Ruth Chatterton Has Lead in Dramatic Feature Opening Today at Dominion Theatre

Ruth Chatterton comes to the Dominion Theatre today in the First National picture, "Frisco Jenny," in which she has a typical "Diamond Lil" role.

The polished and dignified actress turns entirely away from her recent society roles in her latest starring vehicle, and reverts to a character part similar to those in which she made some of her early and most outstanding successes, such as "Madam X" and "Sarah and Son."

In "Frisco Jenny" she appears as the Queen of the Demi-monde, who rules her kingdom with an iron hand, a woman hard and unscrupulous, yet with an underlying tenderness and so unsurpassable a love for her only son, that she goes to the gallows with sealed lips rather than acquaint him with his mother's shame.

Miss Chatterton is supported by an exceptionally strong cast which includes Donald Cook, James Murray, Louis Calhern, Hallam Cooley, Pat O'Malley, Robert Warwick, Harold Huber, Helen Jerome Eddy, Frank McGlynn, Sr., J. Carroll Naish, Noel Francis and Robert Emmet O'Connor.

AMUSEMENTS

ON THE SCREEN

Capitol—Ann Harding in "The Conquerors."

Columbia—"Farewell to Arms," starring Helen Hayes.

Dominion—Ruth Chatterton in "Frisco Jenny."

Empire—"The Love Contract," starring Owen Nares.

Playhouse—Helen Hayes in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet."

COLUMBIA THEATRE Ernest Hemingway, noted American author, whose novel, "A Farewell to Arms," done into a movie with Helen Hayes and Gary Cooper in starring roles, now at the Columbia Theatre, served in the Italian ambulance corps during the Great War, like the hero of his story, and like him, was wounded in action and decorated for bravery.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Lewis Stone, who plays a prominent role in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," which will be shown at the Playhouse Theatre last times today, is one of the screen's best known character actors. Stone was born in Worcester, Mass. He began his stage career in 1901 as understudy for the leading man in a play called "Sidetracked," after which he enlarged his experience by starring in a series of Los Angeles stock company plays.

EMPIRE THEATRE "The Love Contract" will be shown for the last times tomorrow at the Empire Theatre. Winsome Winifred Shotter and debonair Owen Nares, as lady chauffeur and employer respectively, play at cross-purposes so effectively that the "story" seems to become a slice of real life. "The Love Contract" is light, dainty and altogether acceptable entertainment.

CAPITOL THEATRE Richard Dix and Ann Harding are lovers for the first time together in "The Conquerors," RKO-Radio Pictures' special now playing at the Capitol Theatre. Critics describe the picture as one of the greatest romantic dramas ever brought to the screen. It is a story of America's progress through a half-century of political times touching upon four dramatic periods of decline and inspiring recovery. Also showing is "Goldie Gets Along," an amusing romantic tale of a girl who makes good in movieland, with Lily Damita, Charles Morton and Sam Hardy.

NEW COMEDY HIT IS COMING TO EMPIRE

"My Wife's Family," the rib-straining comedy sensation coming to the Empire Theatre tomorrow, boasts a large cast of seasoned farce players who skillfully extract a great deal of fun out of the amusing situations in which the feature abounds. Gene Gerrard, one of the most likeable screen stars now before the public eye, turns in a grand performance as a young and recently-married husband whose home is upset by the arrival of his in-laws. Muriel Angelus, Dodo Watts, Ellen Pollock, Amy Veness and Charles Paton round out a talented cast.

Bandits Rob Trail Theatre

TRAIL, April 18.—Two armed, masked bandits forced C. H. Dilley, manager of Liberty Theatre here, to open the safe, and escaped with about $200, Sunday night, half an hour before the opening of a preview show at midnight. The bandits surprised Usher R. D. Ramsden in the darkroom, forced him to call Dilly and, after the safe was opened, tied up Tilley, Ramsden and Johnny Lazareff, a visitor. A man named Sloan, who entered the office while the hold-up was in progress, was also tied up. The robbers cut the telephone cord and got away without leaving a trace.

CANADIANS TO BREW BEER IN WASHINGTON

SPOKANE, Wash., April 18 (AP).—Plans of the Associated Brewery of Canada, Limited, to operate the Imperial Beverage Company plant here in the manufacture of 3.2 per cent beer were announced yesterday.

Francis A. McKevitt, an attorney representing the Canadian concern, said a $200,000 Washington corporation would be formed, and brewing would be started about May 1. The Associated Brewery of Canada, Limited, a $5,000,000 corporation, operates breweries at Lethbridge, Edmonton, Regina and Calgary.

Two other breweries are operating here.

"What extra work?"

"During the crisis faces are much longer than they used to be."—Grune Post, Berlin.

For Stopping Speeders

YOU may drive your automobile fast in Charlestown, Mass., but you won't drive it far if you run into this little contraption, designed to put a drastic stop to the practice of speeding through the town. A strip of ordinary carpet, studded with sharp spikes, is laid across the street in the path of scorching juggernauts. And speeders must either stop or crash.

MURDER IN EDEN

by Charles Winfield Smith

CHAPTER XIX

As he passed through the lobby of the hotel Inspector Ben MacQuarrie hailed him. Kane turned to greet his old friend and declined an invitation to dine. Then, for the first time, he realized how swiftly the evening had passed.

"John Lee's keeping his hands off in this case," the inspector told him. "That's my suggestion."

Kane showed his surprise.

"He was a bit displeased because you let those three go last night," MacQuarrie continued. "He wanted to lock 'em up and sweat 'em out."

The other grimaced. "That would never have done any good," he said. "They'd have shut up tight. As it was, I obtained some good leads."

Jere Kane refused to explain when the inspector pressed him. He said, curtly, "I've got to get out to Balley's. I've let something slip—or rather, I put too much faith in old Chivington." He turned away with a "I'll see you later."

He fairly leaped into a waiting taxicab and directed the driver to the address in Hollywood, then let his thoughts go back over the events of the last twenty-four hours. The cab driver, following instructions, raced at break-neck speed through the evening traffic.

"Why," Kane asked himself, "did Chivington lie to me? Who is he shielding?"

He recalled the old servant's denial that his master had any enemies. Kane had treated him gently, had shown him every consideration due his age and his reverence to Balley, and for his pains he had been thrown down.

That line in Balley's diary stood out as though written in indelible ink:

"Chivington knows everything."

Then, Chivington knows the identity of the mysterious woman known as "Buddy." Jere Kane felt that at last he was near the end of the trail. He had no doubt but that "Buddy" had killed Balley. In a moment of insane jealousy she might even have shot Nanette Le-Roi.

But who was "Buddy?" He smiled to himself; he would soon know.

The taxicab whirled from Highland Avenue into the street in which Bailey lived and began laboring up the steep hill. Grimly, Kane thought of his narrow escape at that corner. He did not for a moment, now, have any other thought than that someone had deliberately attempted to kill him.

Kane went in.

There was only one reason for such an attempt: the murderer of Richard Balley feared that he had found the trail and wanted to get him out of the way!

Presently, the cab pulled up to turn into the driveway leading back to the entrance of the murder house. Kane stopped him:

"I'll walk in," he said.

He alighted and paid the driver, then turned up the driveway. The house was ablaze with light. The front door was standing open.

Unceremoniously, he walked in. There was no one in the drawing-room. He walked into the music room; that, too, was unoccupied. In both rooms the lights were burning, even to the small bracket lamps beside the doors and over the piano.

Back in the drawing-room he espied the door leading in to Bailey's den standing ajar and the lights in that room burning. But there was no one there. Through the other rooms he went, the breakfast room, the dining-room, the kitchen, the pantry—but there was no sign of life.

Where was O'Hara? And Chivington? Perhaps the servant had retired—the strain of his secret and what had occurred must have been a heavy burden for him to bear—in his room upstairs. Taking the stairs two at a time, Kane was soon standing in the door of the old man's room.

Chivington was not there.

There were other rooms on this floor. Three doors, besides that to the servant's quarters, opened off the dark corridor. One by one, he opened them and peered in. These were bedrooms, neatly arranged, luxuriously furnished. But, even though the lights in each were burning, they were empty of life.

Bounding back downstairs, he went over the lower floor again. This time he found a door which he had overlooked. Jerking it open, he found a dark passage. Grouping about, he discovered a switch and snapped it. Instantly, the passage was bathed in light and was revealed as a stairway leading into the basement.

The faint strains of music came to him. It stopped, and a voice said, "You are listening to a programme of dance music played for you by the Embassy Orchestra. We have an unusually large Sunday night crowd here tonight and we are more than pleased to have with us several visiting police officials who are in our Garden of Eden for their annual convention. And," the voice laughed, "they seem to have found several Eves to entertain them. You know, these arms of the law might have come out here for business, but they certainly look like they're in a swing now. They might hold their sessions on Sunday, but Sunday night is their night out."

As the music started again he saw another switch beside the one he had snapped. He touched it and the basement glowed with shaded lights. Descending, he found himself in an elegantly appointed recreation room. In a far corner he espied O'Hara, sound asleep.

He was across the large room at O'Hara's side in a flash. Gruffly, he shook him. The detective shook himself, sat up and gazed about in bewilderbent. Then he looked up and saw Kane.

"Where's Chivington," the amateur detective demanded.

"Upstairs asleep," the other man muttered sleepily. "He told me to come down here and get some rest."

"No he isn't." Kane snapped. "He isn't in the house at all."

O'Hara scrambled to his feet. "You mean he ain't upstairs asleep?" he asked, more in protest against being thus aroused than in dismay over the servant's disappearance.

"No," sharply. "There's no one in the house at all—except you. When I arrived I found the front door standing open and every light in the place ablaze."

"That's funny," dully, "he said he was going to get some rest . . ."

"Oh, snap out of it," disgustedly. "I want Chivington and I want him at once."

O'Hara finally managed to recover his faculties. He was galvanized into action. "I remember now," he exclaimed. "He got a telephone call before he went upstairs. I don't know who it was . . ."

"No," Kane asserted harshly, "I didn't expect you to."

". . . but when he hung up he said something about it being a woman he detested. I tried to get him to tell me who it was but he wouldn't do it.

"It was then that he said he was going up for some rest and that if I wanted to, I could come down here."

"Did he say anything else?" eagerly.

"Yes. He did say something about taking Bailey's car and going down on the boulevard later to get something for supper. He said he'd go after he rested a bit."

"Did he go?"

"I reckon he did," the detective replied sheepishly, "if he ain't here."

Kane returned to the floor above, the officer following at his heels like a pet dog.

There was no car in the garage.

"See if the car is gone," Kane ordered.

When the detective had gone he went into the den. A quick survey showed him that nothing had been disturbed. Presently, the officer returned, his eyes bulging with excitement.

"The garage door's locked!" he almost shouted. "There's a car in there and the motor's running."

"Come on," Kane cried and started for the rear of the house.

At the garage door he stopped short. A padlock held the doors firmly closed. He could hear the soft purr of an automobile engine.

"Maybe the old man's trying to kill himself," O'Hara muttered.

"Get that lock off there," Kane directed.

The officer looked about for a rock but in the darkness could find none.

"Use your gun," the other snapped.

O'Hara drew his revolver and, using the butt end as a hammer, pounded away at the heavy lock until it fell off. After Kane had thrown open the doors he, replaced his gun, pulled out a small pocket flash and went in. A moment later he was back again, coughing deeply.

"There's enough gas in there to kill an army," he sputtered.

Kane took the light, covered his nose with his handkerchief and went in. He flashed the light into the car. Two persons were in the front seat. One was Chivington. He was slumped down, his chin hanging on his chest.

Lying against the wheel was a girl he had never seen before. She was a young woman, extremely blonde, passingly comely, with soft even features and a delicate body. Even now, with death hovering over her, there was a hint of impetuous frivolity in her very posture.

What Today Means

"ARIES"

If April 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a.m. to 11:15 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 1:50 p.m., and from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 a.m. to 8:50 a.m., and from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

A stillness will seem to permeate the atmosphere on this day, and much activity of a quiet but progressive nature will result. Executives and leaders of all activities will find their subordinates unusually willing to follow them; many splendid ideas and suggestions may be passed up from the lower ranks.

The child born on this April 19 will have a good deal of physical endurance and will go in a great deal for all sorts of healthy sports. You will find this child possessed of an easy-going nature. He will be lumbering rather than agile in both his thinking and movement.

If April 19 is the date of your birth, you are an active person physically as well as mentally. At the same time you know fully the great good that comes to one from repose and quiet meditation and reflection. You are not one to scratch lightly the surface of life; from every person you meet and from every situation or problem with which you find yourself confronted, you draw much of value. You do not often allow your emotions to creep to the surface, but within yourself you know many turbulent emotional moments.

If you were born on April 19, you radiate a very friendly nature and have the happy faculty of making people feel very much at ease in your presence and very much at home when they call on you. This you do not do through the means of particularly amiable and gracious conversation, for you are a most reticent person; rather it is your general air of affability and good humor which draws people to you. When it comes to making a living you have little to worry about. You will never make a great deal of money, but you always will have work of some sort or other to do, and you will be able to take care of your family comfortably. You will probably marry before you are thirty. Divorces are rare among those born on this date.

MRS. A. HARRISON
15 Hanley St., Toronto, Ontario

"I am the mother of eleven children including two sets of twins seventeen months apart. My oldest child is twelve. I was so rundown and thin that I could not work. Had pains in my back and head most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had heavy odds to work against but it helped me wonderfully. I have been taking it for four months now. I am feeling strong again, have no pain in my head or back, have gained ten pounds and can do all the work for my family."—Mrs. A. Harrison, 15 Hanley St., Toronto, Ontario.

"EASIER AT CHILDBIRTH"

"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was always tired, had dizzy spells, also headaches and bearing down pains at my period. My stepfather told me to try it when he saw what a condition I was in. I have three fat, jolly children. I took the Vegetable Compound before and after they were born, and found it easier at childbirth."—Mrs. Percy Earl Snow, Pictou, Nova Scotia.
